

Choice Of Veep Unsure

Conjecture On Running Mate for LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York both say that President Johnson has not discussed the vice presidency with them.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, and a fellow Minnesotan, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, are considered the leading possibilities among potential running mates for Johnson.

Thursday the President eliminated from consideration all members of the Cabinet, including Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Wagner's weekend visit to the White House stirred speculation that Johnson was seriously considering him for the No. 2 spot on the Democratic ticket.

But upon his return to New York Sunday, Wagner said "there was no discussion" about the vice presidency. Rather, the mayor said, he and Johnson "talked about the situation in New York, the poverty program, housing and the international situation."

Humphrey, in a Sunday interview on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation," was asked if he agreed with reports that he is a likely first choice as Johnson's running mate.

"I surely haven't heard it from the President," he replied. A day earlier Humphrey told an interviewer: "I feel it looks as good as one could hope for."

The Minnesota senator said Sunday he was not advised in advance of Johnson's Thursday announcement.

In Boston, Atty. Gen. Kennedy said he has been encouraged by persons urging him to seek the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Congo Army Routs One Rebel Band

(AP) — The Congolese army claims it has routed one rebel band 150 miles northeast of Leopoldville, scattering the primitively armed warriors in flight across the Congo River to the neighboring Congo Republic.

But other rebels, many of them Communist-backed, still run free over about a sixth of the Congo and remain the major obstacle to Premier Moise Tshombe's campaign to unite the country.

The army communique Sunday announced one of the government's few military victories since Tshombe took office three weeks ago, pledging to work for a national reconciliation.

The rebels were chased out of Kolo, about 25 miles from Bolo, where they had crossed over from the Congo Republic (the former French Congo) last week, the communique said. They came and went in motorboats and dugout canoes fitted with outboard motors.

Previous reports said there were about 200 rebels in the band and that they planned to march south to Leopoldville and overthrow President Joseph Kasavubu.

Advice For Women

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet women — heavy candy and cake eaters — got this advice Sunday from the newspaper Moskovsky Komsomolets on how to stay slim and beautiful: take up weight-lifting.

"Weight-lifting will do away with hunched shoulders and flatten tummies," the Young Communist League paper said. "It will give rounded feminine form to the shoulders, arms and waist."

Political Tones Mark Rusk Talk

No Reference To GOP Allegations To Foreign Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says "no one has to convince us the contest between freedom and Communist imperialism is for keeps."

Rusk without referring to Republican allegations about foreign policy — continued in a speech Sunday night.

"This struggle is our first order of business in the State Department. And it must never cease to be our first order of business until a worldwide victory for peace and for freedom has been secured."

"Our purpose must be to win that victory without a great war if possible. We will defend our vital interests, and those of the free world, by whatever means are required."

"But a military orgy is not a rational path to a decent world order of free men. No sane man could regard the incineration of most of the Northern Hemisphere as a triumph for freedom."

In Washington, where the text of Rusk's speech was first made public, aides declined to call his remarks a reply to criticism by Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater or to the Republican call for a "victory for freedom" foreign policy. The speech, however, dealt with subjects raised by critics.

Weather Photos

Ready To Hurl TV Camera Around World for Closets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Riding the crest of the smashing U.S. moon picture taking success, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is ready to whirl the same kind of cameras around the earth to take close-up photographs of clouds.

The object of the launch, which may be conducted next week, is to better understand the weather. And the new satellite, Nimbus A, is designed to provide better than ever pictures of the cloud patterns which determine the weather.

Moe I. Schneebaum, Nimbus mission officer at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., says the satellite will carry advanced television cameras identical to those carried aboard Ranger 7 which took historic pictures of the moon last week. These cameras, he said, will provide about five times as much resolution or detail as the cameras on the earlier Tiro weather satellites.

The Nimbus craft also will provide for the first time: 1. Specially developed high resolution infra red radiometers

Facing Two Big Hurdles

Congress In Race Toward Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congress racing to adjourn in about three weeks faces two big hurdles this week, a controversial antipoverty measure and the foreign aid authorization bill.

The House has set aside three days to work on a $962-million program aimed at breaking the poverty cycle for millions of Americans, and the Senate may take all week on foreign aid.

Both houses will find time to act on other bills, too, including pay raise legislation for federal workers and the armed services, and a bill aimed at protecting investors against stock frauds.

Congressional leaders hope to be able to close up shop before the Democratic National Convention opens Aug. 24 in Atlantic City, N.J., and much depends on how things go this week.

President Johnson is banking heavily on passage of the antipoverty bill, officially known as the Economic Opportunity Act, and Republicans are equally determined to defeat it.

In hopes of speeding action, House leaders plan to shape the House bill as close as possible to one passed earlier by the Senate—thus avoiding the necessity of having a joint conference to agree on a bill, and then another round of voting.

Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma told the House the bill would be taken up Wednesday and a final vote would probably come on Friday.

Closest In Years

Hot Weather, Hot Contests Seen for Tuesday Election

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An election as hot as Missouri's August weather comes to a sizzling climax Tuesday when voters decide the closest race in years for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Other hot contests also enliven the ballot. For the voting the weather-forecast more hot and humid.

A Variety Of Topics To Council

Cable television antenna systems, Civil Defense and a proposed ordinance initiating a garbage collection fee are items expected to come to discussion tonight as City Council meets at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall on the eve of the statewide primary election.

Mayor L. L. Studer said Monday morning that he has received to date six proposals for community antenna television systems (CATV) in Sedalia — including one composed entirely of local investors and another reported to include a majority of local stockholders.

"I think the council should decide whether or not a license or franchise is to be issued. If not that kills it, but if the council decides favorably we should enter negotiations with the firms," Studer commented.

The proposed fee will probably come in for some discussion but the council is not expected to hear a reading of the ordinance.

Mayor pro-tem J. C. Griffin said Monday that the councilmen met Thursday night in private caucus to prepare for the session tonight and to discuss the garbage fee ordinance. Griffin said the ordinance has been completely rewritten and is not expected to be ready for a reading tonight.

The council heard a first reading of a garbage fee ordinance at the last session and copies were distributed for further study. Councilmen apparently found enough faults with that ordinance to require a complete rewrite job by City Counselor Earl T. Crawford.

Civil Defense and its relation to the city budget may come up again if First Ward Councilman Robert Bader holds true to an earlier statement. Bader questioned the $1,200 amount budgeted by the city and charges the sum allows only funds for salaries.

Mayor Studer commented on the Civil Defense discussion which came up at the last session while he was undergoing treatment at the Missouri Pacific Hospital in St. Louis.

"As I see it, the council can't take any action independently unless it wants to assume all of the expense (for Civil Defense). The County Court has already told us they won't participate except on a part-time basis."

LBJ Orders Stiffer Policy For Viet Nam

To Beef Up Naval Force, Then Destroy Attackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered U.S. naval forces beefed up in the Tonkin Gulf area, off Viet Nam, and has ordered them to destroy any force that attacks them.

Johnson summoned reporters to his office to tell them of the orders.

State Police Drawn From Rochester

Guard Removed Earlier From Stricken Area

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered the state police withdrawn from Rochester today, leaving local police with the sole responsibility for maintaining law and order in this calmed racial battleground.

His order followed a similar directive Sunday night, withdrawing about 1,500 National Guard troops, whose "show of force" early last week helped quell racial violence.

Acting on Rockefeller's instruction, State Police Supr. Arthur Cornelius Jr. directed the last contingent of troops to pull out of the city. There were about 150.

At the peak of the rioting, more than 400 troops were ordered to the scene, but some were withdrawn gradually.

During the rampage of missile-throwing, fighting, looting and shooting, four persons were killed, about 350 injured and nearly 1,000 arrested.

The guardsmen, sent here by Rockefeller on July 26, never were called into action. But their presence was felt as they toured the city with bayonets fixed to their rifles.

A spokesman for Rockefeller said about 200 state police would remain on duty here for the time being.

Sifting All Evidence Of Moon Shot

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists began to sift the evidence today of the most important 13 minutes and 40 seconds in the history of man's inquiry into the nature of the moon.

But those 13 minutes and 40 seconds may take years to analyze fully.

In that short space of time Friday morning, between an 80-second camera warmup period and the death plunge of the ranger 7 into the moon, scientists received 4,316 close-range photographs of the moon's craggy face.

Man has not been shown so much about the moon, particularly in so short a time span, since Galileo first peered at it through his homemade telescope in the early 1600s.

Friday night scientists released the best 10 photographs they'd spotted. These pictures showed, like pores on a human face, the tiniest pockmarks on the moon's crust. The smallest was only 18 inches across — about the size of a wash basin.

Today scientists planned to launch a detailed study of the more than 4,000 other photographs. They hope to determine whether any part of the 200,000 square miles photographed might be a good landing site for manned Apollo moonships.

Offices Close

City, county and state offices in Sedalia will be closed all day Tuesday while voters go to the polls in the primary election.

Claim US Planes Hit Border Post

No Evidence In Support Of Charge Found

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam has charged that four U.S. fighter-bomber planes from Laos bombed and rocketed a North Vietnamese border post and village. The Reds said the attack was unprovoked and blamed it on the United States.

U.S. officials in Washington said they knew of no evidence to support the charge, the second in as many days made by the North Vietnamese against the United States.

"This constitutes a provocative act on the part of the U.S. government and its henchmen which crudely violates the sovereignty and territory of the democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam," the North Vietnamese foreign ministry said in a protest statement broadcast Sunday.

The United States has supplied the Laotian government of Premier Souvanna Phouma with propeller-driven T28 fighter-bombers which Laotian pilots fly against the Communist Pathet Lao. Unarmed U.S. Navy jets have also been flying reconnaissance missions in central Laos at Souvanna Phouma's request, and armed American fighters escort them.

The Vietnamese protest did not describe the planes, saying only that they were U.S. fighter-bombers. But it said Prince Souvanna's neutralist faction in Laos "must bear heavy responsibility" for permitting the United States to use its territory to attack North Viet Nam.

Barry Eager To Return To Campaign

BALBOA, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater relaxed again today after a carefree holiday on the high seas, but there were hints that he may be eager to get back to work.

Goldwater cut short his vacation by a day and will return to Washington Wednesday. And his news secretaries, who hadn't even seen their boss since they left Washington Thursday, had another session scheduled with him today.

A lot has happened since Goldwater left the capital — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy has been eliminated as a Democratic vice presidential candidate. A moon shot has succeeded. A U.S. destroyer has been fired upon. But the Republican presidential candidate has had no comment.

Sunday Goldwater went to sea in a converted PT boat, the Sundance, owned by Marvin Whitman, a Beverly Hills real estate man. Whitman is a former airline pilot who has been a Goldwater friend for 20 years.

For six hours the Sundance prowled the Pacific, sometimes as far as five miles out.

The highlight was meeting up with a submarine, the Razorback. The Sundance came right alongside, and the officers, who had been watching it through their binoculars, recognized the candidate. They saluted. Between snapping pictures, Goldwater waved in return.

Konrad In Office

BONN, Germany (AP) — Ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 83 years old, was back in his office today, having thrown off a summer cold. His health had caused some concern when he canceled a weekend speaking date. He is due to leave Aug. 15 for his regular summer vacation on the shores of Lake Como, in Italy.

Military Pay Raise Bill Speeds On

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, without discussion and on a voice vote, swiftly passed today a bill that will bring $207 million in pay raises to most American servicemen and service women.

House passage completed congressional action on the bill. It now goes to the White House, where President Johnson is expected to sign it quickly so the raise can begin Sept. 1.

The bill provides raises for all members of the armed services except draftees and lowest-ranking enlisted men.

For most servicemen and servicewomen, the pay raise would be the second in a year. Congress enacted a $1.2-billion raise last year, putting it into effect Oct. 1.

All controversy on the bill evaporated when Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, decided to call it up under a special procedure known as suspension of the rules, which requires a two-thirds vote for passage.

Under this procedure, the bill may not be amended. By bringing it up this way, Vinson assured that the bill, which is identical to the one passed by the Senate, can go directly to the White House without entangling it in a compromise conference between the two bodies.

During Armed Service Committee deliberations, Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., tried without success to amend the bill so it included pay increases for the draftees and lowest-ranking enlisted men as well as the others. This was defeated by a 21-9 vote.

The bill would provide these increases:

1. A 2.5 per cent increase for all officers and enlisted men with more than two years of service.

2. An 8.5 per cent increase for all officers with less than two years of service.

White Youths Throw Rocks At Policemen

HICKSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Several white youths—part of a counter demonstration against a Congress of Racial Equality picket line of Negroes and whites—hurled rocks and other missiles at police Sunday night.

The trouble broke out after a group of young whites tried to break through a police line to get at Lincoln Lynch, Negro head of the Long Island chapter of CORE, police said.

Two white youths who police said had stones in their hands were arrested.

The clash occurred in front of the Vigilant Realty Co., which CORE has been picketing for six days in support of a demand that the company rent homes and apartments to Negroes on an "open occupancy" basis. The company says it does not practice discrimination.

Several hundred persons looked on while several white youths started throwing stones at police. About 50 steel-helmeted officers were on hand as CORE and anti-CORE pickets marched up and down opposite sides of the street outside the realty firm.

After the rock-throwing incident, police escorted the CORE pickets to their cars.

US Protesting Sunday Attack On Destroyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is making a formal protest to the Communist North Viet Nam government for an unprovoked attack on the U.S. Navy destroyer Maddox in international waters, the State Department said today.

The attack is viewed as a serious incident, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said.

McCloskey said the means of delivering the American protest and the channel to be used are still under consideration.

However, a authoritative sources said the three-nation International Control Commission, headed by India and including Poland and Canada, will be the means of conveying the protest to Hanoi.

McCloskey said the means of delivering the American protest and the channel to be used are still under consideration.

JULY PASTURE WINNER—Charles W. Blaylock, Route 5, clips weeds in an improved pasture on his farm 10 miles northeast of Sedalia. Keeping weeds clipped out is important in pasture management. Blaylock has 23 acres of improved pasture primarily fescue and ladino, with some red clover. Besides the improved pasture he has been running his 39 head of old stock and 36 calves on an additional 17 acres of woods pasture. Blaylock seeded half of his improved pasture in 1949 and seeded the remainder in 1954. In the spring of 1963 he applied 2½ tons of lime to the acre and bulk spread fertilizer 50-40-40 on half of the pasture. The remaining half got the same lime and fertilizer application in the spring of 1964. The Blaylock pasture was judged the best for July in the monthly contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and University of Missouri Extension Center. Pasture winners this summer will be revisited in the fall and the grand champion will win an expenses-paid trip to the American Royal. (Democrat-Capitol photo)

People In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Dempsey says an attack of bronchitis has forced him to cancel all engagements for the next several weeks.

"I'm a lot better, but the doctor said I've got to take it easy for a while or he'll put me in a hospital," said Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champion.

Dempsey, 69, operates a New York restaurant. He was to have appeared this week at several events in Colorado, his native state.

Beef Cattle Testing Station?
Animal Water Consumption
What is the daily water consumption of various farm animals?

Extension animal husbandmen say water consumption depends upon many factors. . . such as temperature of the weather and of the water itself. . . type of feed eaten and availability of the water in a convenient place for the livestock.

The minimum water consumption for a one-thousand pound beef animal is from 10 to 14 gallons daily. Five-hundred pound calves would drink six-and-a-half to eight gallons daily. Horses will consume about 10 to 12 gallons daily.

A mature sow will drink seven-and-a-half to eight gallons daily. . . while pigs under one-hundred pounds will drink one to one-and-a-half gallon. Two-hundred pound pigs will drink a gallon-and-a-half to three gallons daily.

Nursing ewes will drink a gallon-and-a-half to two gallons daily. . . while lambs will drink a half to one gallon.

The livestock specialists say water is not only necessary as a constituent of the ration but its consumption tends to regulate the amount of feed an animal will consume.

Seal Farm Ponds
We have many farm ponds and they are one of our best sources of water. Some of them won't hold water though, and their owners are asking for information on how to seal them.

A variety of materials can be used to seal farm ponds. The most common commercial product is Bentonite, a volcanic clay which is spread over the leaking surface and worked three to four inches into it. Thorough packing is then required. Bentonite and metaphosphates are expensive and require considerable work and care to properly use.

Most Missouri soils have sufficient clay to seal properly if puddled, or if sand or gravel pockets are covered with six inches to one foot of clay and then puddled.

Puddling can be easily done by a bunch of hogs wallowing in the pond. After the pond holds and fills with water the hogs should be removed from the pond basin and kept out.

Puddling can also be done with salting or feeding cattle in the pond basin. Using a farm tractor while the basin is wet is also effective if enough trips are taken and the basin is not puddled too high above the water line.

Very few, if any, good ponds cannot be made to hold water if the proper steps to seal are taken and a little time is allowed.

Sudan-Sorghum Silage
Will the sudan-sorghum crosses make good silage for dairy cattle?

University of Missouri Extension Dairyman Fred Meinershagen says silage made from sudan-sorghum cross varieties has not resulted in as good a quality silage as is obtainable from forage-sorghum, and particularly it's not as good as silage from corn.

If cut early the sudan-sorghum cross results in high moisture silage unless it is wilted. High moisture silage is usually less palatable and is consumed at a much lower rate by dairy cattle than silage that is wilted.

Most dairymen interested in making a silage from sudan-sorghum cross forage probably will continue this only as a means of salvaging excess forage that cannot be made use of by pasturing.

Pushes Own Brand

LBJ Turns the Corner In Touchy Political Maneuver

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears to have turned the corner in a politically touchy maneuver to substitute his own brand for the Kennedy label on his administration.

The President's action last week in ruling Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and several other out of consideration for the party vice presidential nomination was viewed generally as culminating seven months of efforts in this direction.

The feeling among politicians was that Johnson would be well satisfied to have history say he helped get the late John F. Kennedy elected but would not like to have it recorded that he had to depend on the Kennedy name in his own elective try for the presidency. Those who know Johnson well think he decided long ago against taking Kennedy on the ticket with him.

They recalled the successful White House activity in February to head off the possibility that the attorney general might roll up more write-in votes for second place than Johnson's presidential nomination total in the March New Hampshire primary.

Johnson's strategy has been to compile a record in Congress and in executive actions which would convince Democratic liberals and independent voters he could be relied upon to push progressive programs.

He seems to have become convinced that he has achieved that objective. Civil rights organizations have applauded his stand on that vital issue. Organized labor endorsements have been rolling in. White House

Fire Brick Employees Back to Job

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Employees of fire brick companies in Missouri, Pennsylvania and Ohio were expected to resume work today following agreement on a new two-year contract.

The old contract expired at midnight Friday and about 2,000 members of 14 locals of the Brick and Clay Workers Union, AFL-CIO, were called out. Some plants were not scheduled to work Saturday.

Companies which negotiated with the union included five plants of the Harbison Walker refractories in Missouri, Pennsylvania and Ohio and the Missouri plants of Kaiser Refractories Division at Mexico, Walsh Refractories Corp., at Vandalia, and Wellsville Fire Brick Co.

James Cathesue, International vice president of the union said the new contract provides an immediate nine cent wage increase this year and another nine cents next year.

Under the old contract wages averaged $3 an hour, including piece work.

Improvements in the pension program and seniority system also are provided in the new pact.

An additional one-half week vacation for four seniority brackets is included, along with an agreement to carry over for one year an employee's entire insurance package in the event of sickness or injury.

Union officers were expected to sign the contract today and it will then be submitted to the locals for ratification.

Cathesue said it was hoped work would resume today but that "we may have to visit some locals to get them back."

Fall Gardens

Fall garden planting time is here. So if you had intentions of planting a fall garden this year, now is the time to get started.

But beware! Fall gardens are sometimes difficult to get started and past the seedling stage. However, fall gardens can be one of the most rewarding as far as yields and top quality of many good vegetables are concerned.

Here are a few tips on fall gardens that may prove helpful to you. The following vegetables can be planted in your garden the last week of July or the first week of August: bush beans, early maturing sweet corn (70 days or less), kale, collards, carrots, Chinese cabbage, endive and beets. Any time during the first three weeks of August you can also plant: spinach, leaf lettuce, mustard, turnips, and radishes.

So you see we have a wide selection of vegetables from which to choose. Another tip, don't plant too much! Don't get over-ambitious. It gets hot and it gets dry in most parts the latter part of July and most all of August.

You will probably need water to get your seed germinated and past the seedling stage. It may pay to keep your fall garden small and concentrated, and able to be watered adequately when needed.

One of the essentials for seed germination is moisture. So before sowing your seed it would be desirable to soak the soil to a depth of 6 to 12 inches. This will provide a reservoir of moisture and insure germination.

Before applying this pre-planting moisture supply, clean all plant debris from the area to be planted to the fall garden.

Apply about 10 pounds of an 8-24-8 or similar fertilizer per 1000 square feet of garden area. Rototill or spade the fertilizer into the soil to a depth of 3 to 6 inches. Then apply the water.

As soon as the soil is workable, you can sow your seed. If the weather is hot and dry, it would be helpful to water the area lightly each day about noon and again early in the evening in order to keep the surface soil moist. This need be just a light watering; as you have a moist soil underneath.

Continue this spot watering until seedlings have become established. Then gradually increase the amount of water as needed. By this time the fall rains should be giving you some assistance.

Another problem with fall gardens is invasion by insects. So keep a close watch for insects such as flea beetles, leaf hoppers, mites, etc. A combination spray of methoxychlor and malathion, used as a regular spray when the plants are young will keep these pests under control.

Remember also keep weeds under control. They should not be too much of a problem, but they do require constant attention. And last but not least, thin out seedlings so they stand about three inches apart in the row.

This is a practice much neglected in the gardens. Inadequate thinning is probably just as damaging to your crop as letting weeds get ahead of you. Two plants can't grow where there is room for only one. So resolve this year to thin out your seedling vegetables in your fall garden.

Poisonous Plants of Missouri
Extension Field Crops Specialist Ross Fleetwood said that there are some four-hundred species of poisonous plants in the United States. An undetermined number can thrive under certain conditions in certain areas of Missouri.

This means that the presence of one or more of these plants in pastures is almost inevitable but only a relatively few of these plants present a real hazard. Most of them are poisonous only at certain times. . . and most of them have a low degree of palatability to most livestock. In actual practice the losses are not nearly as extensive as might be expected.

Fleetwood says the poisonous plants frequently found on Missouri farms include Wild Cherry, Johnson grass, sorghums and some sudan grasses. Others include Larkspurs, Loco Weed, Hemlock, Night Shades and Snakeroot.

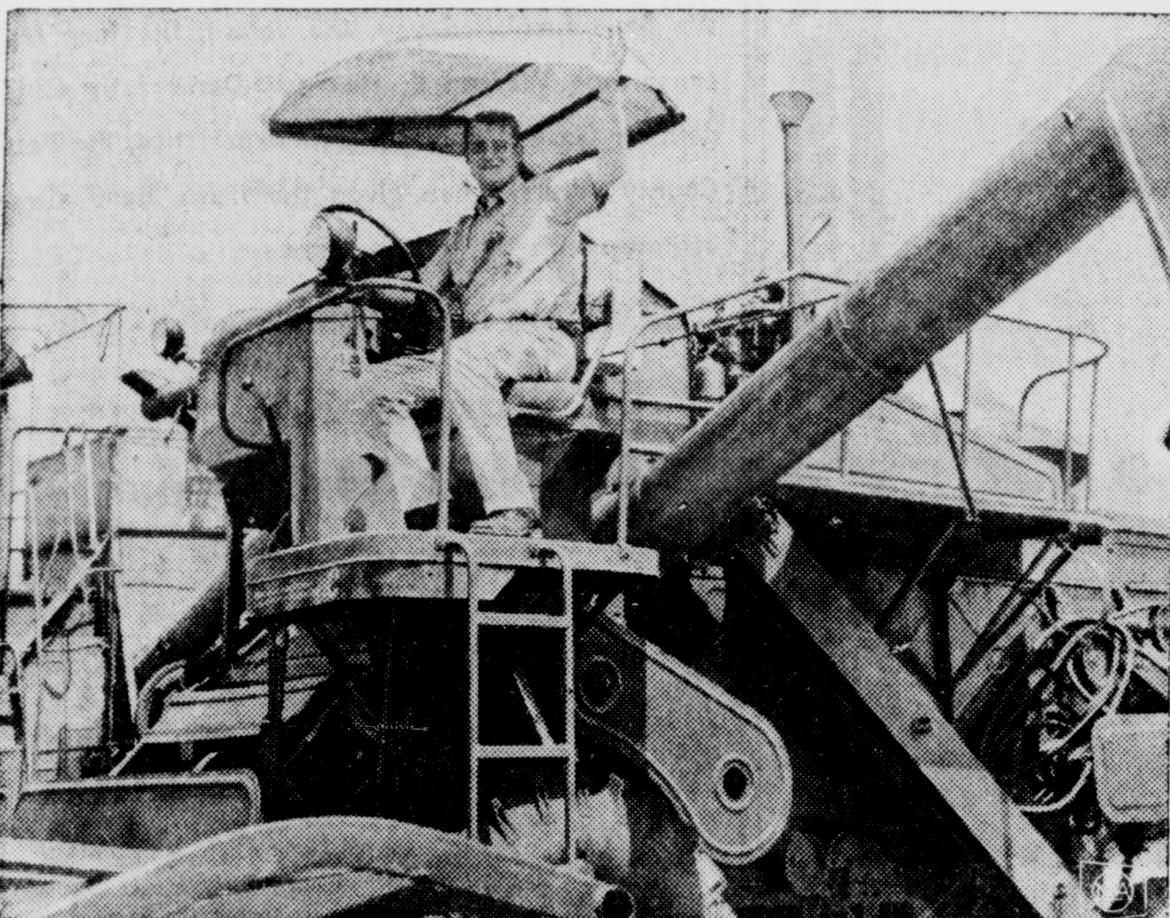

Since there are so many that can cause trouble. . . Fleetwood says the average person can't hope to recognize all of them. In cases of poisoning, the unknown plants in the pasture should be submitted to qualified person to determine the ones most likely to be the cause of trouble.

Beef Cattle Testing Station
The time is drawing near for getting cattle in the central Beef Cattle testing station this fall. Tests in the station evaluate rate of gain and feed efficiency in order to compare home-fed cattle with cattle in a different environment, as well as with other bulls within the respective breeds.

Copies of the rules and regulations, including health forms, can be obtained from Keith Leavitt, Superintendent, Central Testing Station, 125 Mumford Hall, Columbia, Mo. These regulations give dates and requirements to meet to be eligible for the testing phase. These cattle must have health certificates which will require approximately 30 days to clear prior to bringing them to the station. A standard form is furnished from the testing station which can be filled out by the local veterinarian. The forms must be filled out 30 days in advance.

Calves born Jan. 15 through February, 1964, will be eligible to start on feed in September this year. Calves born in March, 1964, through May 15 will be eligible for the November group.

From inquiries received there appears to be an increased interest in the Central Testing Station from most parts of the state. Why don't you plan to make an entry in the Univer-

Report Big Ore Deposits In Southeast

PILOT KNOB, Mo. (AP)—Major mining companies have reported finding large ore deposits in southeast Missouri, giving promise to a booming development in the state's mineral industry.

Kennecott Copper Co., the world's largest mining company has established the Ozark Lead Co., a new subsidiary. The firm is sinking a development shaft near Ellington, Mo., where large tonnages of good grade lead ore have been reported.

Hanna Mining Co. and Granite City Steel Co. are discussing a joint venture to build a plant to process a large iron ore deposit at Pilot Knob.

St. Joseph Lead Co. is spending more than $20,000,000 doubling its present mining and smelting facilities.

National Lead Co., in association with the Bunker Hill Co. of Kellogg, Iowa, is exploring the area near Higdon, Mo., where the companies say they may develop a several million ton lead and zinc deposit.

American Zinc, Lead and Smelting has leased 1,500 acres of national forest land west of Salem and reports encouraging drilling results for copper and lead. The company also reported continuing work on lands around Bourbon.

Other major mining companies that have reported ore finds in Missouri are the Montana Phosphates Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada, and American Metal Climax Co. which has formed a joint venture with Homestake Mining Co.

Elmer Jones, an official for St. Joseph Lead Co., predicted when the third Viburnum mine begins production this fall and the Fletcher-Herculeum expansions are completed by 1966, Missouri's lead production will exceed records set during World War II.

Thomas Beveridge, retiring state geologist, said announced plans by major lead producers indicate Missouri could exceed all production records within five years.

Because of these developments the Missouri Pacific Railroad changed its plan to abandon 69 miles of track into the Higdon area. The Frisco railroad recently requested permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to build a 41-mile $5,000,000 spur line into Crawford and Reynolds counties.

Drill Moves Toward Nine Trapped Men

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP)—A huge American-made drill advanced at the rate of three feet an hour today toward nine miners entombed for more than a week in a caved-in limestone mine.

The rescue workers said they hoped to reach the miners Wednesday.

Five other miners are missing in another part of the mine under Mt. Rivel. Officials hope one or two of the missing miners may be alive.

Rescue officials announced Sunday night that they had hoped to reach the trapped miners by Tuesday. But they revised this today and said the men might have to remain in the mine another 48 hours. They said confusion among the French, American, Swiss and German rescue workers led to the earlier prediction.

A spokesman for the rescue command said that by noon the drilling of a 23-inch vertical shaft had reached 138 feet, with about 110 feet to go. He said the drill was advancing at the rate of about 3 feet an hour.

A horizontal tunnel approach from the side of the mountain was advancing faster than expected. It was being aimed toward the spot where two other miners were working when the mine collapsed, and from where tapping sounds have been heard.

Three other missing miners are presumed to have been killed in the cave-in.

MEMORIAL TO THE CONFEDERACY—For more than 30 years, the partially finished sculpture on Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, Ga., stood untouched, except by the hand of nature. Work has recently been renewed on the huge carving depicting the heroes of the Confederacy. Scrambling up the granite neck of Robert E. Lee (left) is Roy Faulkner, the chief rigger,

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen W. Dulles said Sunday that as a result of President John F. Kennedy's assassination Americans should demand that their presidents be fully protected from crowds.

Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency and a member of the Warren Commission investigating Kennedy's death, said that a president should be surrounded by Secret Service men and should ride in an armored car during public appearances.

There should also be as little advance notice as possible of where a president is going to be when he leaves the White House, Dulles said.

Dulles was interviewed on a Metropolitan Broadcasting Co. radio and television program, "Opinion in the Capital."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six Republican senators, headed by New York's Jacob K. Javits, plan to offer a health care proposal for persons over 65 when the Senate Finance Committee takes up the House-passed Social Security bill — probably Tuesday.

The proposal would provide up to 45 days of hospitalization and up to 100 days of nursing-home care-financed under Social Security. It also calls for low-cost private insurance plans to cover some other medical costs.

Besides Javits, sponsors include Thomas H. Kuchel, Clifford P. Case, Kenneth B. Keating, Margaret Chase Smith, and John Sherman Cooper.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson heads west next week on a three-state tour to dedicate the billion-dollar Flaming Gorge Dam along the Utah-Wyoming border and to look at nearby national parks, Indian reservations and natural wilderness.

The White House said Mrs. Johnson would stay at Jackson Lake Lodge, Wyo., in the Grand Tetons National Park during her Aug. 14-17 visit. She also plans to visit Montana.

Mrs. Johnson will be accompanied by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and other officials. All three states went Republican in the 1960 presidential election.

Young Mother, Son Killed in Collision

NEVADA, Mo. (AP)—A 20-year-old Joplin woman and her son were killed and a man was injured seriously today in a car-truck collision 5½ miles south of Nevada on U.S. 71.

Dead were Mrs. Sharron Stovall and her son, Stephen, 4. Taken to a Nevada hospital with internal injuries was Clarence Nachbar, 45, Adrian, Mo., driver of the tractor-trailer.

The highway patrol said Mrs. Stovall was northbound and the truck, loaded with shell corn, was southbound. The truck ran into a ditch after the collision. The car was demolished.

Miss Universe Celebrates Her Coronation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Her coronation ball was the biggest party of her life and the new Miss Universe, Kiriaki Tsopel of Greece, stayed out until almost dawn to celebrate.

One thousand people came to dance. Hundreds more milled through the hotel where the ball was held in hopes of seeing the regal 20-year old Athenian or 99 other beauties saying good-byes. They weren't disappointed. Despite only three hours sleep since her crowning Saturday, Kiriaki was stunning.

"This is the happiest moment of my life. I've never been to such a party," she said. "I can't believe yet I'm really queen."

Her escort was Ted Kays of Miami, an "arranged" date. In Greece, her brother Basil, 17, escorts her to parties "because it is custom." Kiriaki's brother would have been proud Sunday night and he needn't have worried. She was well chaperoned. The problem, in fact, was too many people. Since her crowning, Kiriaki's had little time to herself.

She and 20 other contestants were almost mobbed by 2,500 enthusiastic fans at a Miami railroad station when they went to meet comedian Jackie Gleason. Another 2,000 waved them along the 15 mile route to Miami Beach.

By midafternoon, Kiriaki was "tired and hungry. My feet hurt." But she's no complainer and she took the evening round of parties well in stride.

Eyeing the ocean from her hotel suite, she said, "I'd like to swim, but I haven't had time. Perhaps tomorrow."

Perhaps, but it's unlikely. There's a frantic week of picture-taking, and plans to be made for a year of traveling.

Crowd Sees Aerialist In Death Plunge

DETROIT (AP)—Twenty-two thousand people watched Sunday night as an aerialist fell 85 feet to his death in Detroit's flood-lighted American League baseball park.

Some thought as Edward Henry Knipschild, 55, of New Britain, Conn., spun toward his death that surely there was a safety rope around an ankle that would break the fall. There wasn't.

And "Captain Eddie," as Knipschild billed himself for his 100-foot high act on a swaying pole, became the victim of Detroit's second catastrophe to befall an aerial performance in the last two and a half years.

It was in Detroit's Fairgrounds Coliseum Jan. 30, 1962, that the human pyramid of the "Flying Wallendas" came apart on a high wire. Two died, another was paralyzed for life. Three injured lived to perform again.

Why "Captain Eddie" fell was a matter of conjecture hours afterward among eye witnesses.

Herbert M. Boldt, a veteran Detroit News reporter, said a strap apparently broke as Knipschild started a spin, foot-in-loop and face down from a horizontal bar 85 feet up his 100-foot, thin and swaying pole. He was performing at the close of Detroit's police field day.

Drowns in Chariton

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Raymond Lemen, 51, of Lemons, Mo., drowned Sunday in the Chariton River five miles west of Kirksville. His body was recovered.

said three he interviewed at the scene told him it appeared "Captain Eddie" fell while crawling along a horizontal bar 85 feet up his 100-foot pole while trying to adjust a safety wrist-let.

Knipschild was dead on arrival at a hospital. His body left an indentation in the rain-soaked outfield turf of Tiger Stadium.

It was on Lt. Sheedy's orders that the pole, which disclosed the broken rope loop, was brought in "to see for sure what happened way up there under the lights."

Boldt said there was a hush among the throng, reaching around the double-tiered stadium via home plate from left to right field, when the white-clad "Captain Eddie" started spinning down.

"Then," he said, "there was a gasp as they realized there was no ankle-clutching safety rope to stop the fall."

The Wallendas fell from only 36 feet up, but like "Captain Eddie" they performed without a net. Below them was the concrete floor of the coliseum.

Clergymen Accompany Police On Patrols

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish clergymen accompanied police patrols over the weekend in an experimental program aimed at reducing juvenile crime.

The clergymen were supposed to get a look at what happens on the city streets at night.

There was a burglary report Friday night, but it turned out to be a false alarm. Saturday night nothing happened. Police said it was one of the quietest weekends in years.

Committee Spurns Bank Stock Offer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the House Banking Committee was offered—and rejected — $14,000 worth of bank stock as a gift, committee Chairman Wright Patman said today.

Patman mentioned the purported incident, without giving names, in a speech prepared for delivery in the House. He said:

"One clever means of anti-public action by the bankers' lobby is as subtle as a wart on a movie actress' nose. It takes the form of offering a congressman bank stock either free or at a cost greatly under the market value."

"A member of my committee was approached and offered $14,000 worth of bank stock as a gift. I am proud to report that he is of such calibre that he told the would-be donors to get out of his office and stay out—and in language unfit for this occasion."

Patman, a Texas Democrat, devoted most of his speech to an exposition of his view of the principles of money and credit and of his argument that the Federal Reserve System should be brought more directly under the control of the Treasury and national administration.

Mid-Calf Dresses For Dinner Wear

By LOUISE HICKMAN

PARIS (AP)—Midcalf-length dresses for dinner wear were the biggest fashion news from Yves Saint-Laurent's fall and winter collection today.

Saint-Laurent's presentation matched midcalf theater coats shown earlier by Pierre Cardin.

Viewers also were startled to see a similarity to fashions shown by Chanel without the pants. Both featured simple suits with a "sweatery" look and tiered skirts with wraps and panels.

Saint Laurent even put a flower in the hair, as Chanel did.

Except for the midcalf dinner dresses, Saint-Laurent had absolutely no surprises. Evening gowns were standard shifts in jeweled satin or lame.

Suit jackets had soft natural shoulders, with set-in sleeves. Sleeves were slashed and buttoned at the wrist.

The jackets were soft and supple like a cardigan sweater, and fit in much the same way — rather straight, but flowing along the body in front. They were hip-length. Sweater-like, the bottom button was often left undone.

Dark print silk scarves often filled in the fairly buttoned-up necklines. There were lots of close-spaced, double-breasted buttonings.

Slim suit skirts were most often double-tiered, with the top tier also wrapped or paneled.

Saint-Laurent used many smoky colors and dark bias plaids. Soft wool boucles were featured.

Coats were slim, buttoned-up and had thin leather ribbon belts.

Dresses under coats, and here Saint-Laurent did not look like Chanel, had round necks, short sleeves, and wide, crushed belts. Often they were tunic-tied.

Saint-Laurent showed fur hems, borders, cuffs and collars just like everyone else in Paris these days, but with more control.

Bush-Hearnes Campaign to Wire

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—The hottest Democratic race for Governor in many years overshadows everything else as Missouri's primary election campaign nears an end with both sides claiming victory.

The voters will decide the issue next Tuesday but for all practical purposes the campaign is over.

The major contestants, slugging it out to the last, are Lt. Gov. Hilary A. Bush, 59-year-old lawyer from Kansas City, and Secy. of State Warren E. Hearnes, 41-year-old lawyer and former legislator from Charleston.

Bush spent the final days of the campaign in Jackson county. He expects his home bailiwick to give him enough votes to win. Hearnes concentrated on the St. Louis area, which he is counting on for his victory margin.

Speaking as the state's top election official, Hearnes has predicted a total vote of 800,000 to 815,000, with about 600,000 in the Democratic primary. That would be far short of the 1936 record when depression factors and ghost votes in Kansas City put 1,035,000 on the books.

Republicans are expected to nominate Ethan A. H. Shepley, 68, of Clayton, former chancellor of Washington University, for Governor.

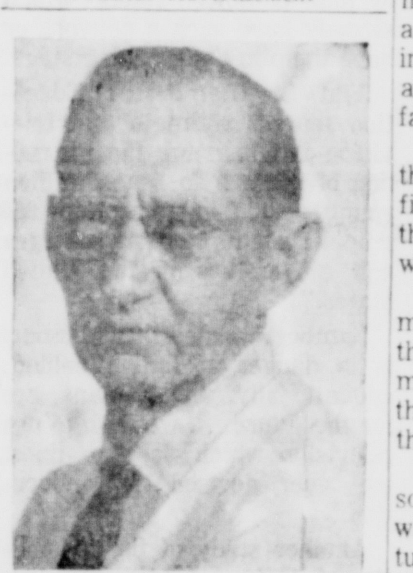

Sen. Stuart Symington, 63, of Richmond Heights, is expected to win renomination in the Democratic primary and his November opponent is expected to be Jean Paul Bradshaw, 58-year-old Springfield lawyer who came within 30,000 votes of being Governor in 1944.

Nominets for the 10 seats in the U.S. House of Representative and all state offices except Auditor also will be chosen, along with half the 34 state Senate seats, all 163 seats in the Missouri House, some circuit judges and most county offices.

But the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor is the hot one.

There the two front runners were challenged by Michael J. Kennedy, 57, lawyer and former Kansas City magistrate who says he is also confident of victory. The Rev. Bill Beeny, 37, of St. Louis, a Baptist minister, and Milton Morris, 52, Kansas City bar operator whose sole platform is legalized gambling.

Early in the game the contest boiled down to a Bush versus Hearnes battle. And as the long campaign ended, their two managers had widely contrasting predictions about the results.

John W. English, Bush's manager, predicted his man would win by 75,000 votes.

Delton Houtchens, the Hearnes manager, predicted a victory margin of 42,000.

Here's the way they figure it: English says Bush will carry Kansas City and Jackson county by "a very substantial majority" of at least 40,000 votes—based on the assumption there the total vote will be around 100,000. If it's bigger, he says the Bush majority will be bigger.

He thinks Bush will have an overall majority in St. Louis and St. Louis County but is reluctant to give any vote figure. He sees Bush carrying outstate Missouri, outside the 10th congressional district, by 30,000 to 35,000 and gives Hearnes the 10th district by less than 5,000.

Houtchens, on the other hand, gives Bush not more than 25,000 votes in Kansas City and Jackson County. He says Hearnes will carry St. Louis by at least 15,000, St. Louis County by at least 12,000 and the 10th

'Dog Days' Expected to Begin Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — August promises a performance by the economy that's better than usual for the "Dog Days."

That mythical creature, the average American, should see his own condition either getting a little better as far as jobs and incomes go, or showing signs of another upward climb in the fall.

Most businesses are saying they expect the upturn of the first half of the year to push them tidily through the final hot weeks of summer.

Part of this cheerier than normal view of August is based on the performance of July. For many industries it sagged less than usual and much less than they had anticipated.

For many factories the seasonal slippage in new orders was slight. For others they actually increased. Steel companies say that August production schedules look good and a September upturn in the bag.

Autos have their model changeover problems, but are giving much more thought to the labor negotiations entering the final stages this month. July saw the union demands presented and argued.

August will see the down-to-earth bargaining as the August 31 deadline for a new contract nears. These talks could get as hot this month as the political arguments seem sure to get.

In August the official reports on unemployment usually look better, because the school youngsters who rushed into the labor market in June will either have found their summer jobs or given up trying.

Both the number of jobs and the pay scales may be helped by the record profits which business as a whole rolled up in the first half of the year. Predictions now are for more of the same in the summer months and still more in the autumn.

Merchants in many regions have seen retail sales mount in most months of this year. Before August is over, many retailers will be counting on back-to-school promotions to fill their stores even more than last year.

The cost of living in general rose in June as usual, apparently did again in July, and shows little sign of changing its ways in much of the rest of the year. But the government says that incomes rose even faster, especially in the factory worker brackets.

district by not less than 15,000. He expects Hearnes to pick up another 25,000 votes in the rest of the outstate area and says there has been "a tremendous ground swell" for his man in the last few days.

Other state races have not generated much interest among the voters although several involve contests that have intrigued the politicians.

For Lieutenant Governor, Atty. Gen. Thomas F. Eagleton of St. Louis is regarded as a shoe-in for the Democratic nomination. He has only token opposition.

His republican opponent in November will be Jewett M. Fulkerson, Liberty Livestock auctioneer who thinks Goldwater's candidacy will help him.

Daniel Bartlett Jr. of St. Louis is the automatic republican nominee for Attorney General, with no opposition, but the Democrats have a good contest going for this office.

Seeking the Democratic nod are Rep. James C. Trimble, 34, Clay county lawyer who has been a majority floor leader in the House for two terms, and Norman H. Anderson, 39, Feaguel lawyer who formerly was St. Louis county prosecuting attorney and Magistrate.

Trimble has campaigned the

DePugh Claims His Mail Is Being Opened

NORBORNE, Mo. (AP)—Robert DePugh, national leader of Minutemen, says federal agencies are interfering with his mail.

Mail covers have been placed on the addresses of 50 to 100 Minutemen, DePugh said Sunday. A mail cover is a system under which local postmasters keep a list of return addresses on mail sent to certain addresses.

DePugh made his complaint in a letter to Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., who recently denounced the use of mail covers by government agencies.

"I have received letters which were obviously opened with a knife and which were closed again with gummed stickers bearing the legend: 'Officially sealed by the U. S. Postal Department,'" DePugh said.

He also said Minutemen mail has been delayed up to 30 days.

Robert Horine, Norborne postmaster, said he could not comment on DePugh's statements.

"This harassment of patriotic citizens," DePugh said, "is all the more despicable when we realize that thousands of identified Communists continuously violate the federal statutes with impunity."

Minutemen is a secret organization which trains its members in the use of firearms to fight Communism in the event this country falls under communist control.

Young Coed An Inspector This Summer

By DON WATERS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — There are 26 restaurants along the New York State Thruway and Patricia Ann (Trish) Lamb figures that she has visited each of them at least 10 times since June 11.

It's not that the 20-year-old Cornell University coed is so fond of eating. The visits are required by her unique summer-time job.

Trish is spending her summer as a $100-a-week roving restaurant inspector for the Thruway Authority. And she is the only woman on the agency's 12-member inspection staff.

Her duties include scrutinizing the coffee shops, dining rooms, cafeterias, kitchens, food, service, garbage buildings, women's rest rooms, parking lots and landscaping of the franchised service areas along the 559-mile toll road system.

The tools of her trade are a keen eye and a pad of inspection forms, on which she checks 17 items as satisfactory or unsatisfactory. She turns in the reports to Thruway headquarters each week.

Trish inspects the quality and quantity of the food, as well as the conditions under which it is prepared and served. This requires some taste tests, of course.

But the brunette, who stands six feet, also is keeping a close watch on her figure.

"I haven't gained an ounce," she said proudly.

But she won't reveal her weight.

Trish goes on the road for five days at a time, stopping each night at motels near the Thruway. She figures she has clocked nearly 10,000 miles in her official Thruway car since starting work six weeks ago.

Trish spends anywhere from 10 minutes for a spot check to 4 hours for a full-dress inspection. Her visits usually are made known in advance and she tries to arrange them for peak business hours to see whether service-area employees do a good job when hurried.

Trish was selected for the job, partly because she is a woman and because of her special background.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lamb, operated a restaurant for several years at Bolton Landing, on Lake George, and she had first-hand experience as a bus girl, waitress, hostess and assistant manager.

At Cornell, where she will be a senior in the fall, she is studying in the school of hotel administration.

The republican nomination is expected to go to Mrs. Maryetta E. White of Carthage, president of the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs of Missouri. Her opponent is William J. Jones, Jefferson City nursing home operator and former Cole county GOP chairman.

Both parties also have two candidates for state treasurer.

On the Democratic side the favorite is Revenue Director M. E. Morris, who has been Treasurer twice and has headed the revenue department three times. His opponent is L. E. Morris of Jefferson City, a retired army major who likes to run for office.

On the republican side Perry Compton of New Florence, former republican state chairman, is opposed by Charles F. Cherry of St. Louis, who was the Missouri manager for Rockefeller-for-President forces.

All incumbent congressmen are expected to win renomination without any trouble but the death last May of veteran Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Elberly, caused a political eruption in the 9th district of northeastern Missouri.

There 16 democrats, four republicans and an independent seek the vacant seat.

Among the democrats in this confused situation, the leading contenders appear to be Clyde Burch of Bethel, an assistant attorney general; William L. Hungate of Troy, a lawyer and special assistant attorney general; Rep. Herman G. Kidd of Jacksonville; Andrew H. McColloch of St. Charles, former city and county attorney; and former Congressman Clare Magee of Unionville.

The republican race appears to be between Anthony C. Schroeder of Union who has run twice before, and Sam Arnold of Kirksville, son of a former congressman.

Polls open next Tuesday at 6 a.m. local time and close at 7 p.m. in cities over 25,000 and the counties of Clay and St. Louis. Elsewhere the closing time is sunset.

Two-hour Riot Erupts at Scene Of Minor Crash

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A two-hour riot broke out at the scene of a minor traffic accident early Sunday and five policemen and a Negro man were injured. Nine persons were arrested.

More than 1,500 Negroes fought police with bricks, bottles and guns until about 40 policemen dispersed the crowd with the aid of police dogs.

The fighting started when Patrolman Harold McDaniel and his dog tried to clear a path so an ambulance and fire trucks could reach the scene of the traffic accident. He was the only officer present.

Someone hit McDaniel in the back with a brick, knocking him down, and five or six men started kicking at him. His dog, Stormy, fought off the mob.

Other officers arrived and started using night sticks.

One man was shot in the left arm after he allegedly hit an officer with a brick and a bottle.

In the traffic accident two cars collided on a bridge and one of them landed in a creek bed. One driver, Margaret Dunaway, 47, suffered minor injuries.

Stuck Accelerator Causes Girl's Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A speeding car with its accelerator stuck plowed through a dead-end street barricade and into two trees early Sunday, killing a Kansas City, Mo., girl.

Three of her companions were hurt critically.

The dead girl was Miss Lendora Ogletree, 18. She died at 2:30 a.m., about an hour and a half after the accident.

Others in the car were Miss Carolyn F. Young, 18, of Houston; Miss Anaro Ogletree, 16, of Kansas City, sister of the dead girl; and Miss Jacqueline Wood, 19, also of Kansas City.

Deputy Sheriff W. L. Allison Jr. said Miss Young was driving the car. She told him the car's accelerator jammed and the brakes would not hold.

ADMINISTRATOR: Temporary work. No chance for advancement. 112-hour week. Subject to call at all hours. Heavy responsibilities. Unsolvability problems and constant crises. Must expect bitter and continual criticism from millions of bosses and open opposition from many business associates. Little privacy for self and family. Great personal danger. Good pay if you can find time to enjoy it.

Would you apply for the job? Yet, the office of president of the United States has never gone unfilled or unsought. It is, on the contrary, hotly contested for, and huge sums of money are spent to enable the candidates to get it.

Why? Why would any man in his right mind want to subject himself and his family to the mental, emotional and physical wring-out occupants of the White House must endure?

Conceding the elements of personal pride and ambition, egotism, desire for prestige and the satisfaction of being in the No. 1 spot, you must also recognize that no man could serve as president of the United States without possessing a great measure of devotion and dedication to his country and a real feeling for public service.

Why else would anyone be not only willing but eager to assume such problems on the home front as civil rights, taxes, budget, foreign aid, school prayer, labor-management relations and national economy?

Why else would he knowingly take on such international brainteasers as Cyprus, Thailand, Laos, the Congo, Viet Nam, Cuba, Indonesia, Malaya, Zanzibar, South America, Khrushchev, Red China, De Gaulle, etc., etc., ad infinitum?

Citizens of the United States should be deeply grateful that over the years men of the caliber of our presidents have volunteered for the hottest seat in government and have filled it so ably.

Whoever is elected to the White House next November needs and deserves the co-operation, loyalty and support of every citizen in these troublous days at home and abroad—reserving, of course, the inherent right of every American to gripe a little and to run the country superbly as a Monday morning quarterback.

Housewives Eye Probe of Food Prices

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A backstage battle of great interest to every housewife is taking place over who shall direct the investigation of chain stores and the high price of meat, milk, and vegetables.

Chain store representatives have been huddling to try to pick, or at least influence, the selection of the director, counsel, and staff of the committee which will dig into the fact that, while the price of beef on the hoof is lower, the price of meat in the grocery store is just as high as ever.

One meeting was held behind the closed doors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce building last Wednesday, attended by Henry Bizon of the National Association of Retail Grocers, Robert Bennett of J. C. Penney, representatives of the Farm Bureau and some of the big food chains.

There aim is to maneuver the appointment of a director friendly to them. One man considered friendly is George L. Mehren, assistant secretary of agriculture for marketing. Mehren, a marketing expert from the University of California, has had a distinguished career as advisor to various foreign countries, but also has been an adviser to some of the food chains.

His proposed appointment has been vigorously opposed by Sen. Gale McGee, the Wyoming Democrat who sparked the investigation of food prices and who is a member of the "committee on food marketing" which will undertake the probe.

McGee and other consumer protectors favor the appointment of Willard F. Mueller, the food economist of the Federal Trade Commission, who has sent a career probing the chain stores and the gap between farm prices and the prices charged to the housewife.

Mueller knows where all the price bodies are buried. Perhaps that's why the food industry is pulling wires to block his appointment.

MERIDIAN (Miss.) STAR: Eating Our Way Out. — Secretary of Agriculture Freeman made a small but quite important point about the beef crisis the other day. He advised what might be called the knife and fork solution: "We'll have to eat our way out of our own over-production."

There is more to the matter than that, obviously. Europeans interested in buying American beef also is, as Freeman noted, an encouraging development.

Still, Freeman's proposal is attractive. It comes just at a time when backyard chefs are geared up for a summer of grilled steaks and hamburgers and such. The only trouble is that though the price of beef on the hoof has dropped, the consumer's price is still high. If store prices would sag a little, eating our way out of the problem would be a lot easier.

Pets' Reflection

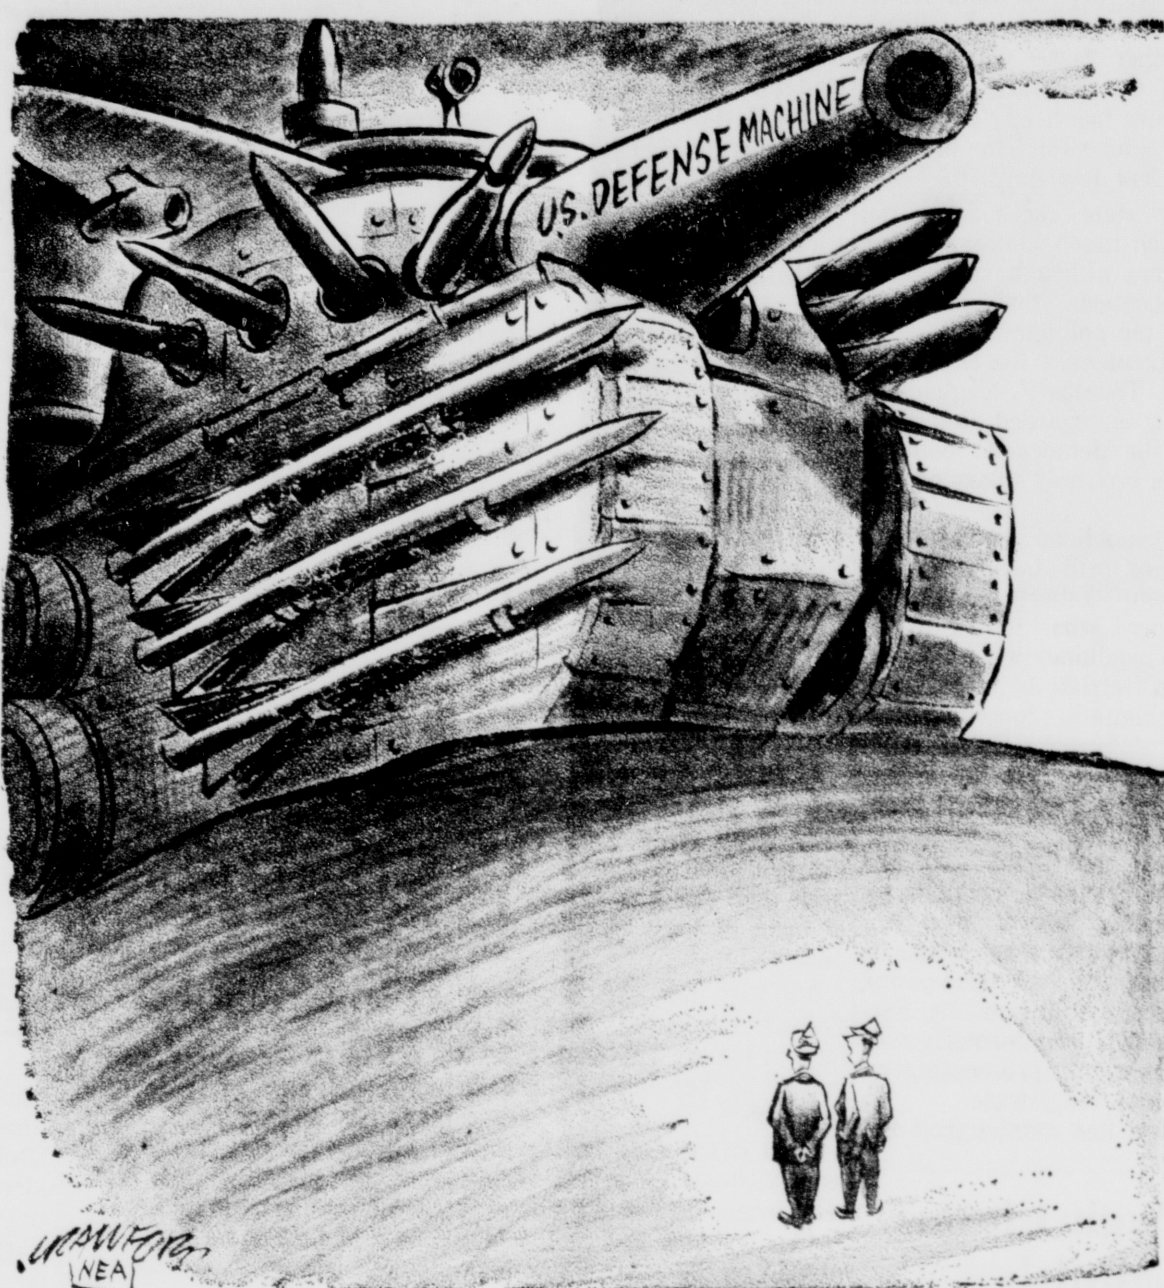

If you do not wish to have a nervous pet, then keep calm. A psychiatrist working with disturbed patients who have cats and dogs says that the tensions of the patient are often mirrored in their pets. He always asks that the pets be present when he is visiting a client.

A veterinarian also contributes to this theory by saying that if he gets a peculiar animal, he carefully diagnoses the owners of the pet and believes that the pet's behavior is reflected from the humans in the homes where they live.

Apparently when the owner is happy the pet is happy, or when he is nervous or depressed the pet reacts in the same manner. Pet birds, particularly cockatoos, are especially sensitive to any conflict of temperaments in the household.

This whole theory may have no merit but it might be fun to watch the behavior of your pets and see if they have any similarity to your own moods.

Goldwater Men Map Strategy

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's Republican presidential campaign will rely heavily on television and hit hard at states where the Arizona already has a strong base of support.

And through it all, the Goldwater forces will be quietly watching the issue of civil rights in the North. On that score, they plan now to be silent.

For, although men around Goldwater have said in the past that the so-called white backlash in northern states could mean votes for their man next November, they have hastened to add that the question will for them be a completely quiet one.

Goldwater, genuinely concerned around its explosive implications, is doing his best to keep it that way.

The lessons of the long primary campaign are much in the minds of Goldwater's men as they map strategy for the coming race against President Johnson.

Three states stand out: New Hampshire, Oregon and California.

In New Hampshire, where he lost the nation's first primary to Henry Cabot Lodge, Goldwater was a candidate who talked constantly, who for a time held almost daily news conferences.

He wound up tired and constantly plagued by demands that he explain to the voters remarks he had made on Social Security, on the United Nations and on a variety of other subjects.

In the wake of that defeat, the Goldwater forces tightened their planning, turned to prepared speeches instead of off the cuff talks with small groups of voters, and sharply cut the candidate's news conference appearances.

The senator said later he suffered in New Hampshire from overexposure to the press.

In the big battle ahead, says Dean Burch, Republican national chairman, Goldwater can be expected to stick to the post-New Hampshire pattern — and seek to stick to a handful of vital issues.

"Too many issues and the campaign can come unglued," he says.

The pattern Goldwater's men seek to shape is the one they followed in California, where the senator eschewed the whistle stop style of vote-hunting, took his message to the voters in an intensive series of television appearances — most of them on tape or film — and made his personal appearances at a series of major rallies.

Together, the California and Oregon primaries signal the third key factor in current campaign planning. Goldwater's forces figured in advance the Oregon primary was lost, and they called off the senator's personal campaign there.

Instead, they concentrated time and money on the California primary. And in California, they worked hardest at the southern areas where Goldwater appeared strongest.

"We had seven days left," says Burch. "We were strong in the south, weak in the north. We spent 6½ days in Southern California, one half day up north."

And Goldwater won — on Southern California votes.

Now his strategists are talking of an effort to secure Goldwater's bases of strength — in the Western, Rocky Mountain and Midwestern states, and perhaps some Southern states — early in the presidential campaign.

Goldwater has worked hard to mute the issue of civil rights tensions during the presidential race. The senator said last May neither he nor Pres. Johnson will bring into the campaign the question of the so-called white backlash against the civil rights movement in the North.

"I'm convinced he will keep it out and I convinced him that I'll keep it out," Goldwater said of his 16-minute talk with the President on July 24. The senator called the issue an inflammatory one.

And Goldwater himself is known to have expressed that view within the past year.

It's the Law In Missouri

QUESTION: Can a passenger riding in a car as a guest of the driver be charged with responsibility for the driver's negligence?

FACTS: Bill Jones and Jim Brown were driving about town in Bill's car with Jim sitting in the front seat as a passenger. They had been squealing their tires and driving somewhat recklessly and a City Police car was looking for them, because of complaints from neighbors.

Later in the evening they were driving at a speed of about 55 or 60 miles per hour near the city limits of the town, when the City Police car took out after them with the red light flashing and the siren sounding. They came to a dead-end street and the car plunged into a ditch with serious injuries to Jim.

Jim, through his father, filed a suit against Bill for personal injuries, claiming that the injuries resulted from Bill's careless operation of the car. Bill said that while his operation of the car was negligent, Jim had a duty to ask him to slow down and particularly should have warned him that the police were in pursuit. Jim claimed that he had told Bill, "slow down the cops are behind us," but admitted that the radio was on and Bill may not have heard him.

Under these circumstances can Jim be charged with contributory negligence, preventing him from winning the law suit?

ANSWER: The answer is Yes. While normally Bill's careless operation of the car resulting in Jim's injuries would entitle Jim to be paid damages, the Court held that Jim was equally negligent for failing to protest Bill's operation of the car. The general rule is that when dangers which are either reasonably manifest or known to the guest confront the driver and the guest has an adequate and proper opportunity to influence the situation for safety, if he sits by without warning or protest and permits himself to be driven carelessly to his injury, this is negligence, which will bar recovery. The end which the law seeks in imposing the duty of protest upon the passenger is to induce the driver to discontinue operating the automobile in a manner likely to be productive of injury.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Beauty Operators are Pulling Hair Over Brush Rollers

Earlier this spring, the State Cosmetology Board, which licenses beauticians and beauty shops to operate in Missouri, quietly slipped through a regulation banning the use of "brush rollers" in such shops.

And, to back up its position, the board sought and received a favorable opinion from the Attorney General's office on the validity of its action.

Apparently taken by surprise, beauty operators across the state, from the single operator to the largest establishments, are up in arms over the new regulation. And, reports one employee in the Board of Cosmetology office in the state Capitol, calls have been received even from members of Missouri's congressional delegation.

In fact, mail continues, on an almost daily basis, to deluge the state office, with no end apparently in sight. Even candidates for office have been recipients of this type of mail, urging that the matter be looked into.

What's the fuss all about?

Well, to non-users of beauty shops, the whole argument would seem to be some kind of nutty deal. But not to the beauty operators and their equally vehement patrons. What the board has done is to throw out the use of brush rollers which these operators feel are the easiest type to use.

However, the Board of Cosmetology, headed by Mrs. Jakaline McBrayer, indicates that it has felt for a long time that such rollers were not being properly sanitized. Although it is freely admitted that such rollers can be cleaned, too few shops apparently were doing an adequate job.

The new regulation not only doesn't permit a beauty shop to use or keep brush rollers on hand, it also forbids customers from bringing in their own.

The validity of the board's action apparently is being questioned by the 26,049 beauty operators licensed in Missouri. It is likely that when the legislature convenes next year it will be swamped with letters from irate beauty operators.

Highway Fatalities Continue to Mount

Within one six-day period last month, 17 persons lost their lives in two traffic accidents. One was a head-on collision with the other involving several cars. Both were in Missouri.

And, as July was ushered out, the state Highway Patrol reported that Missouri was well on its way toward breaking last year's traffic fatality mark, running nearly 100 deaths above the same period a year ago.

State officials continue to show growing alarm at the large number of deaths being reported daily on Missouri roads and there are indications that the Highway Patrol will step up its policing of heavy toll areas.

In Illinois, a candidate for Secretary of State has as one of his platform planks a proposal that the legislature limit drivers licenses to those over 18 and to youths who have successfully completed a drivers education program.

Another age level under attack is the elderly driver. It is reported a study of 35 accidents involving drivers over 65 showed that 27 were directly attributable to driving errors on the part of the elderly drivers.

ETV Once Again Is Being Pushed

Educational television, widely backed by Governor Dalton when the General Assembly was in session last year, appears once again to be making the rounds and it seems likely that the subject will be resubmitted to the legislature in January.

In 1962, a governor's committee checked into the feasibility of educational television for Missouri public schools and reported favorably. But, a proposal to establish an ETV network throughout Missouri died rather quietly during the sixth month session of the 72nd General Assembly last year.

Recently, Dr. Edward Lambert, assistant to the president in charge of television at the University of Missouri, once again issued a call for the state to join 41 other states which already have such a network or have them in the planning stage.

Said Dr. Lambert: "Education sources estimate that television is enhancing the instruction of more than seven million young people in more than 800 school systems and 400 colleges and universities in the United States."

Lambert warned that Missouri is in danger of falling behind, educationally. "Our plans are for the future... we wish to use television which is the finest tool ever devised for education."

Another study of the feasibility of ETV for Missouri currently is being conducted by an interim committee of the legislature and their report is expected to be presented to the General Assembly in January.

DEAR POLLY — People who camp know that rains get matches so wet that it is almost impossible to strike them to start a fire. Now we dip the match heads in melted paraffin or wax from an old candle to prevent their getting wet. The treated matches light just as easily as before and we can build fires in spite of the rains.—SYLVIA

DEAR POLLY—Use hot vinegar on glass to remove dabs of paint. This is much quicker than the old scraping with a razor. I might add that it's safer, too.—MRS. M. S.

What They Say In Letters to Editor

A WORRIED SEDALIA MOTHER: — What is our town coming to? We are interested in the future of our boys and all of us take them to their ball games and are genuinely interested in them. But the mothers and sisters of the players aren't even safe to go to the rest rooms at Centennial Park. The policeman there is doing a very admirable job but he can't be everywhere at once. Four of us were harassed and talked to with dirty accusations. We were nearly frightened out of our wits by six or eight teen age boys. If we become afraid to go to our Sedalia parks, what do we do? My little girl was almost in hysterics by the time we got home because the boys said "Let her go, the woman's here." She ran back to the park bleachers. The boys disappeared into the woodland area of the park when the policeman appeared. Mothers, I know there's very little can be done with these smart alec boys who have absolutely no parental supervision. But please watch yourselves, and your little girls especially. Don't let them go alone. After a sleepless night I decided to write this letter. At least it may help others to be on the alert.

Book Editor Hero of New TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a couple of years of frenzied but futile effort to duplicate the success of "The Beverly Hillbillies," the specialists who dream up formats for television series seem to have decided it can't be done. Next season, at least, the new comedy programs are getting as far away as possible from thigh-slapping, country-style humor.

Within this new area of well-tailored, sophisticated heroes and high-style comedy is ABC's forthcoming "Valentine's Day," which this recent set visitor would classify as a direct descendant from "Burke's Law" and the almost forgotten "Tab Hunter Show," with Mack Sennett as a remote ancestor.

Our hero — Valentine — is a glossy young book editor who has a — hopefully — unending series of funny adventures through his contacts with authors of what somebody in publishing dubbed "non-books" — those written by famous or infamous personalities or their ghost-writers, or by any persons who are not professional writers. The works are always autobiographical, usually spicy.

"Valentine's Day," although right in the 1964-65 season groove, has several distinctions. It was the very last program to find a place in the upcoming schedules of the three networks. And the leading role is being played by Tony Franciosa, a sensitive young performer who built a fine reputation in serious roles on Broadway and screen.

Television stars are usually presented with gifts of the sponsor's product, from cars to cases of toothpaste. Walter Brennan, however, has been loaned a private plane, complete with pilot, for the season by the happy manufacturer of the craft he uses playing a big businessman in his new ABC series, "Tycoon."

Letter to Sponsoring Group

Field Service Student Writes About Denmark Stay

A letter from Lou Ann Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Lange, 907 West Broadway, American Field Service student to Denmark, to Mrs. Bryan Howe, president of the American Association of University Women, sponsors of the program here, follows in part.

"The train-ride from Rotterdam to Aalborg was great! We traveled through three countries in less than 24 hours. One thing I noticed was the care that every bit of available land he used. I saw no expanse of land of any size that was not cultivated in some way. Also, while traveling through the outskirts of Rotterdam, we passed what probably would be compared to slum sections; never-the-less every window was bright with white curtains and cheery flowers. The people have a great deal of pride in their homes, no matter how humble. These Europeans show much more pride in the beauty of their cities than we.

"Our downtown districts are places where people go to work, they leave work and go home. All of the time no one notices whether these areas could be beautified, or if they notice the lack of beauty they shrug it aside thinking that people don't have time to notice the lack of beautification. Here the opposite attitude is prevalent, I think. Every town has pots of well cared for flowers lying everywhere. I think it is really cool. In my town there is one very large park that would easily be a Utopia for garden club members. It is like nothing I have ever seen. Also, there are no billboards to mar the highways and the country-side.

"I would like to tell you some of the sights that I have seen since I have been with my family. As soon as I arrived in Aalborg, my family and I went to the North Sea. There we lived in a cottage by the sea. Behind our cottage were many tall, grassy sand dunes. Beyond these lay the beach and the sea. While at this place, Lokken, my family and I traveled to Borglum Kloster. This is an old monastery dating back as far as 1086 and beyond. King Canute lived there in 1086; thus, historians can accurately date it that far. It was inhabited by the monks.

"At one time the sea went much further inland than it does now, and the Kloster is built on a hill, thus, the monks could see the arrival of all the ships in the area. After spying a ship, they would build a huge fire on the beach and the ship's captain thinking of the gleam of the lighthouse or safe approach signal would come closer and the ships would be wrecked on the reefs. The goods from the ships would be confiscated and taken to the monastery. Although it wasn't very hospitable, I think it was a pretty clever plan. Needless to say the church was very ornate and beautiful.

"Later we returned to the North Sea again but to a different location, Bulberg. At Bulberg there is also a German bunker built on the cliff overlooking the water. I have noticed many bunkers around in my city. In a nearby park about which I have written before, there are two bunkers. The Danes try to conceal these by the use of flowers, grass and fences, but they are very evident. I have been told that there is a heavy concentration of these German structures around the coast of West Jutland. These were built to ward off any possibility of an attack similar to Normandy.

"Just a few days ago, Ruth and I went to see a Viking cemetery inside of Norresundky. It was fascinating. This location has been covered with sand, has had another city built over it and has been evacuated within a period of nine centuries. The graves are marked by stones of many shapes and sizes.

"I am very happy. My family and I have many common interests, and we enjoy each other tremendously. I want to thank you for making this opportunity possible for me. Please give my regards to all the members of AAUW.

It cost Columbus $7,000 to discover America. The big question now is — was it a good investment?

A century ago anybody over 50 was considered old. But most of today's oldsters don't feel old. A Harvard study of 200 people over 65 found that only 21 per cent of the men and 20 per cent of the women thought of themselves as elderly.

It has been estimated that 64 per cent of the world's great achievements were accomplished by people over 60 years of age.

A quarter of a century ago it cost passengers $200 for $10,000 insurance — one way — for the first transatlantic flight aboard Pan American's pioneering Dixie Clipper. Today for $12 you can get a $300,000 policy, round trip.

If you used as much water as the average plant does, in proportion to your weight, you'd have to drink 10 quarts a day.

To get rich all you need is to discover a way to profitably mine the mineral wealth in the sea. The oceans of the world contain some six million tons of gold.

First Half Earnings Throw Steel Firms Into Spotlight

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry, enjoying one of the lightest summer letdowns in years, took the business spotlight during the week.

U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp., the two biggest producers, came out with their second quarter and first-half earnings reports.

And industry leaders issued glowing statements about the outlook for the balance of the year.

U.S. Steel, the No. 1 steelmaker, reported earnings fell to $60,696,096, or $1 a share, in the second quarter from $73,214,182, or $1.23 a share, in the 1963 second quarter, when users were buying unusually heavily as a hedge against a strike that never came off.

In the first half, U.S. Steel earned $112,242,098, or $1.84 a share, compared with $103,132,956, or $1.67 a share, a year earlier. Bethlehem's profits rose in the second quarter to $40,153,961, or 85 cents a share, from $29,361,031, or 61 cents a share, in the 1963 second quarter. This was because of a lesser provision for federal income taxes.

First-half earnings increased to $68,658,624, or $1.44 a share, from $48,700,411, or $1 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, said steel consumption and economic activity are likely to remain on an even keel for the rest of the year.

Steel production dipped during the week to 2.27 million tons from 2.32 million the previous week. It was the eighth decline in nine weeks but the drops were not as sharp as usual at this time of year.

Steelmakers were heartened by the expectation that purchases by the automotive industry will rise in September when model changeover is completed. For the time being, model changes have slowed the auto industry's production. Output during the week was estimated at 61,000 passenger cars, down 46 per cent from the 114,995 turned out the previous week.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler ended production of 1964 cars and closed their plants for changeover.

Production of 1964 models was estimated at 7.8 million. The 1965 models are scheduled to start rolling off assembly lines Monday.

U.S. gold stock suffered a $70-million loss in June, the Federal Reserve Board reported. The amount was twice the drain in May and the largest monthly outflow in nearly a year.

First-half gold movements left U.S. holdings as of June 30 about $27 million higher than the $15,596,000,000 at the close of 1963.

Sedalians Feel First Sting Of Defeat In State Tourney

The Sedalia Merchants felt the first sting of defeat in the 1964 Missouri State Non-Pro Baseball Tournament, Sunday night, when the Fulton Sports set the Merchants back on their heels 8-3. It was a night of errors for the Sedalians, and a night of hits for the Sports, all of which resulted in these two teams clashing again at 8 o'clock tonight at Liberty Park for the 1964 championship.

Due to the rules of the National Baseball Congress it was necessary to schedule the game for Monday night instead of the previously announced Wednesday or Thursday.

Larry Bowes, who has had an exceptionally good tournament play, really had his night Sunday being the victim of four errors and lost the play in the sixth when he took Hank Kuhlman's fly behind third base and McDannold went sliding in home for the run.

The grandstand was practically filled with local fans, all hoping to see the Sedalians come through to end the tournament. The Fulton team took over the lead at the top of the first inning, but was tied in the bottom half of the inning when the Sedalians scored two runs. Fulton moved ahead again in the fifth by a lone run, and this was tied up in the bottom half of the sixth.

The Sedalians saw their chances really fade in the eighth as a three run rally was staged by Fulton, the locals unable to do anything about it in their half of the inning, and the frosting was on the cake in the ninth as Fulton added two more. It was strictly evident after the eighth inning that the Merchants were going to be unable to do anything about it.

In all probability the Merchants have got it out of their system and will settle down for tonight and a good possibility is they will come through, since their pitching department has had some needed rest since last Friday night.

The following is the account of the game Sunday night: Fulton scored first in the top of the opening inning when Bill Funkhauser hit a hard drive which bounced off Skip Schulz' glove and went for a hit. Carroll McDannold was safe on Bowes' error at short, and Funkhauser circled on around second to third when the throw went wide at second. McDannold stopped at second. Jeff Wallace struck out. Hank Kuhlman grounded to short, Funkhauser scoring. Bob Ruck singled to left field scoring McDannold. Gary Woods up, Ruck stole second. On Morgan's error, Woods was safe and Ruck went to third on Bowes' error. Gene McArthur struck out. Two runs, two hits, three errors.

Sedalia came back in the bottom half of the inning to tie the game up. Marshall Bryan beat out an infield hit. Bill Dey singled to left, Bryan to second. Crank beat out an infield hit filling the bases. Larry Bowes sacrificed to right field, Bryan scoring. Crank went off first base, pulling the ball to second, and Dey stole home and Crank successfully put it to a double steal, being safe at second. Bill Hill grounded to short and Jim Fall grounded to second. Two runs, three hits and no errors.

The Sports snapped the tie in the fifth. McDannold beat out an infield hit. Wallace singled to center and McDannold went to third. Kuhlman flied to short and McDannold scored. Ruck hit by a pitched ball. Wallace to second. Gene Woods flied to Bowes at short who threw to Morgan at second to catch Wallace off the base for the third out. One run, two hits, no errors.

The Merchants knotted the game in the bottom of the sixth inning. Bowes safe on McDannold's error at short. Bill Hill walked. Fall forced Bowes at third, pitcher to third, and on Ruck's throw to first Fall was safe and Hill went to third. Morgan beat out an infield hit and Hill scored. Falls to second. Newman hit into a double play, second to short to first. One run, one hit, two errors.

A three-run rally was staged by the Sports in the top of the eighth inning, which shook up the Sedalians. Ruck flied to left field. Woods beat out an infield hit. McArthur singled to right field and Woods went to third. Goodman, on a fielder's choice was safe at first. Woods scoring. On a Schulz' error, Stroot was safe and McArthur scored. Goodman going to third. Funkhauser safe on Bowes' error and Goodman scored. McDannold flied to left field. Wallace grounded to first. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

The top of the ninth, Fulton collected two more. Kuhlman doubled to centerfield and went to third on Morgan's error. Ruck on a fielder's choice, was safe as Kuhlman scored. Woods grounded to second. McArthur singled to right field, the ball going between Morgan's legs. Ruck scored. Goodman singled to centerfield. McArthur to second. Stroot forced Goodman, second to short. Funkhauser lined to third. Two runs, three hits and two errors.

Sedalia concluded the game with three straight outs in the bottom half of the ninth.

Jefferson City 1, Fulton 2
The Jefferson City Red Birds,

defending champions of the 1963 Missouri State Non-Pro Baseball Tournament, bowed out of the 1964 competition in the first game Sunday night to their neighbors, the Fulton Sports, 2-1.

The Red Birds had been favored to at least go into the finals of the tournament, with the Fulton Sports a second rating, with the big surprise of the tournament being the Sedalia Merchants who "breezed" through the winners bracket to go into the finals for the championship play.

The game took an hour and 45 minutes to play.

In the first inning Jefferson City, the visiting team, scored first after Dave Smith went short to third, then Ray Scott singled, went to second on a balk, and stole third base. When Kuhlman threw the ball into left field trying to cut Scott off he scored. Ray Uriarte flied out to center. Butch Waggoner grounded out to the pitcher. One run, one hit and one error.

The Fulton Sports came back to take the lead, scoring two runs. Bill Funkhauser was safe on Jim Taylor's error at first. Carroll McDannold smashed a triple to right center scoring Funkhauser. Jeff Wallace grounded out to second base. Bob Ruck grounded to short. Hank Kuhlman hit a double down the right field line scoring McDannold. Gary Woods grounded out to second base. Fulton 8, Columbia 2
The Fulton Sports eliminated the Columbia Merchants in their game Saturday night 8-1 to give them the right to move out to the final game of the loser bracket and to meet Jefferson City.

After the first three innings it was evident the Sports had complete charge of the affair and finally scored enough runs to make it a "bottled" affair at the close of the seventh inning on the seven-run lead rule after the seventh.

The scoring of the game: The first inning saw Fulton score a run. Bill Funkhauser grounded to short. Carroll McDannold hit by a pitched ball. Jeff Wallace doubled to deep left field. McDannold to third. Hank Kuhlman hit into a fielders choice, McDannold scoring, while Wallace was caught short to third to short. Gary Woods grounded to short. One run, one hit, no errors.

The Sports picked up three more in the third. McDannold singled to right and went to second on the right fielder's error. Wallace popped to short. Kuhlman singled to center and McDannold to third. Woods beat out an infield hit and McDannold scored. Bob Ruck was out third to first and on the play Kuhlman scored. Woods scored on a wild pitch and Gene McArthur struck out. Three runs, three hits and one error.

The fourth run for the Sports came in the fourth when Jerry Goodman hit a two base hit to center field. Lloyd Carr singled to centerfield, and Goodman, who had gone to third on a steal scored. Funkhauser sacrificed pitcher to first, Carr to second. McDannold grounded to third. Wallace grounded to second. One run, two hits, no errors.

In the fifth, three runs were scored by the Sports. Kuhlman was safe on an error on the shortstop. Woods singled to left field, Kuhlman holding up at second. Bob Ruck singled to center scoring Kuhlman. Error on the centerfielder, Woods went to third and Ruck to second. McArthur grounded to second, and Woods scored on the play. Goodwin up (Ruck to third on a wild pitch). Goodwin singled and Ruck scored. Goodwin was thrown out at second by the catcher. Three runs, three hits, two errors.

The bottom of the ninth saw the Columbia Merchants break the ice as Bob Stanley hit a home run over the centerfield fence near the scoreboard, but no other runs were scored in the inning for the Merchants and it concluded the game after Marshall Murray grounded to second; Goodwin flied to the catcher and Bob Bechtel safe on the third baseman error; and Bolli was out to Kuhlman who made a beautiful catch of his high fly and he took it before it dropped on the screen. One run, one hit, no errors.

Thunderbowl Races Give Spills, Thrills

Thrills and definitely spills were in order again at Thunderbowl Speedway Saturday night. Tom Corbin of Dover, Mo., driving car Number 44 chalked up another victory for himself by winning first place in the very thrilling "B" feature event. Ray Scott, driving car Number 42 left the race the hard way, shortly after the twentieth lap event had begun, when one of the wheels came off of his car on the high bank of the number one turn, causing it to flip over and roll a couple of times, and land upside down. It tore the hot machine up considerably. However, Scott walked away from the wreckage shook up but unscathed.

Russell Hibbard, in car Number 47, copped the first place money from car 49 in a hot and fast, nip and tuck race. It looked as though 49, which had been driving fast and furious all night might take the race from Hibbard, about half way through, however, Hibbard caught a second wind and left him with only a possible chance of winning.

In other events, Dave Gauldin, driving car Number X took first in the fast "B" heat, with Tom Corbin, Number 44, placing second. In the slow "B" heat, Don Heard drove a swift road to victory, in his sprint type car, Number 3.

A car Number 49 sped to first place victory in the fast "A" heat in spite of a spinout in which he was involved earlier in the race.

All in all a packed crowd witnessed a lot of fast and furious action on the speedway by some of mid-Missouri's best drivers.

Giants Defeat Pittsburgh 2-1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco manager Al Dark went against one of baseball's cardinal commandments—Thou Shall Not Intentionally Put The Winning Run On Base—for the fourth time this season Sunday and remained undefeated as the Giants edged Pittsburgh, 2-1.

The situation came about in the bottom of the ninth after Duke Snider's tie-breaking single gave the Giants the lead in the eighth.

Bob Bailey singled for the Pirates with one out and moved to second on an infield out. Dark then waved in Billy O'Dell, who replaced Ron Herbel on the mound. With Roberto Clemente up, Dark ordered O'Dell to issue an intentional walk and Clemente trotted to first with the potential winning run.

Jerry Lynch made Dark look like a genius by looking at a called third strike.

The victory moved the Giants back to within 1½ games of the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies, who ran afoul of Maury Wills. Wills stroked a double and single, stole two bases and started two double plays as the Dodgers belted the Phillies 6-1.

St. Louis kept third-place Cincinnati 4½ games off the pace by beating the Reds 5-4 despite a pair of two-run homers by Deron Johnson, the Chicago Cubs whipped Milwaukee 5-1 and Houston outslugged New York 9-7 in the opener of a doubleheader before the Mets won 4-2.

The Giants scored the clincher in the eighth against Bob Friend, 9-11, when Jose Pagan led off by beating out a hit between third and short. Two outs later, Snider rapped his winning single.

Wills' two hits gave him eight in 13 trips to the plate against the Phillies in the first three games of the four-game set. Meanwhile, rookie Larry Miller pitched his first complete game for the Dodgers by allowing only seven hits.

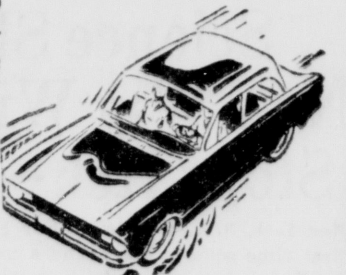

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth when a single by Willie Davis, Ron Fairly's triple and a single by Nate Oliver produced two runs. Tommy Davis later homered for Los Angeles.

The Cardinals built a 4-0 lead in the first three innings against starter Jim Maloney with Curt Flood hitting a homer, but Johnson connected with a man on in the fourth and eighth innings, both off Curt Simmons.

St. Louis then broke through for the winner in its half of the eighth on two walks, sandwiched around Julian Javier's double, and a sacrifice fly by Carl Warwick.

Indians Take Double Header

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sometimes you can't win even when you do.

Ask Sam McDowell and Larry Brown, key figures in the Cleveland Indians' doubleheader sweep over Detroit Sunday.

McDowell pitched a brilliant four-hitter in the 6-1 opener, but got scolded by Manager Birdie Tebbets and wound up in a Cleveland hospital. Brown broke up the 2-1, 11-inning nightcap with a pinch hit that wasn't.

McDowell suffered stomach cramps before and during the first game but didn't tell Tebbets. The 21-year-old southpaw appeared to tire in the late innings and the manager, assuming McDowell was not in top shape, told him so afterwards. After McDowell entered the hospital for observation, Tebbets was the sorriest fellow in Municipal Stadium.

Tebbetts had company when Brown's bases-loaded hit in the 11th of the second game went into the record book as a force play.

Chico Salmon led off the inning by reaching base on Dick McAuliffe's error. One out later, Billy Moran's single and a walk to Tito Francona loaded the bases. Brown, batting for pitcher Luis Tiant hit a loopier to short right that dropped in. But Al Kaline's throw to second beat Francona, who had hesitated on the basepath.

Salmon scored the winning run on the weird play but Brown, who needs a few hits, didn't get one. The young infielder, hampered by a leg infection, is batting .223.

The league-leading New York Yankees blanked Minnesota 2-0 behind Jim Bouton's three-hitter and second place Baltimore shook off Kansas City 8-7 to stay five percentage points behind the Yanks. The Chicago White Sox won two from Washington 2-1 and 3-1, climbing to within one half game of the top, and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 2-1.

Bouton, working in 94-degree heat, tossed his second straight shutout and ran his season record to 12-8.

Arnie Keeps Chasing Kel; No Success

MONTREAL (AP) — Arnold Palmer keeps chasing old Kel Nagle, but he can't catch him.

In fact, Arnie is losing ground.

Nagle, a 43-year-old Australian with powderpuff drives and pinpoint irons, first outtraced Palmer in the 1960 British Open when he beat golfing's master by one stroke.

He outran him again Sunday, slashing four strokes off the 7,090-yard Pinegrove course's par 71 and won the $50,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship with a 72-hole total of 277. Palmer, despite his patented finisher, was two shots behind this time at 279.

Nagle won $7,500 for his first North American tournament victory and Palmer $4,000 for his fourth second-place finish this year.

Nagle turned in scores of 73 and 71 for the first two rounds, but blazed home on the second half with rounds of 66 Saturday and Sunday.

"They're my best finishing rounds ever," said Nagle.

Nagle went into the final round one stroke behind Palmer, Bill Collins of Grossinger, N.Y., and Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill. Firing birdies on the second, fifth and sixth holes, he overtook the leaders and began setting his own pace.

Palmer missed seven putts of four feet or less but climbed right back into the big money with an amazing finish.

Cards Take Cincy Reds In Close Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when lightning appeared ready to strike St. Louis a second time in two days, the Cardinals grounded the Cincinnati Reds.

The Cardinals, who blew a three-run lead Saturday and then lost, 6-5, gave up a four-run bulge Sunday before slipping by the Reds, 5-4, in St. Louis.

The victory salvaged the finale of the three-game set for the Cardinals, who moved back within seven games of the top.

Kansas City lost again in the late innings to Baltimore, 8-7, Sunday, after dropping a 5-2 decision to the Orioles Saturday in Kansas City.

The Cardinals lost Saturday when pinch-hitter Mel Queen stroked a homer with two on to climax a five-run seventh inning that overcame a 3-1 St. Louis lead. It looked like the same thing over again Sunday after the Cardinals took a 4-0 lead, helped by Curt Flood's solo homer and run-scoring single.

Curt Simmons breezed along except for two bad pitches which Deron Johnson hammered out of the park, each time with a man on, to tie the score. The first came after Dick Groat's error in the fourth. The second followed a broken bat single by Vada Pinson in the eighth.

However, the Cardinals, struggling aside the threat, scored once in the eighth for the victory. A walk, Julian Javier's double and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Carl Warwick provided the tie-breaker.

Baltimore scored four times in the ninth inning, three times on Dick Brown's double, for their triumph Saturday. Then Sunday, eighth inning doubles by Jackie Brandt and former Kansas City player Norm Siebern gave the Orioles a tie-breaking run after an early innings see-saw.

The Orioles collected 15 hits, including a three-run homer by Boog Powell that provided a brief 7-3 lead. The A's had 13 safeties, including solo homers by rookie Berto Campaneris, Manny Jimenez and Jim Gentile and a two-run clout by Ed Charles. Their four runs in the fourth tied the score at 7-7.

The Cardinals and the A's are idle today.

Dan Tate Jr., 33, St. Louis, was injured fatally Sunday in St. Louis when his car struck a divider under Eads Bridge.

A St. Louis pedestrian, Charles Stanton, 33, was struck Saturday night by a car driven by William Clinton, 26, St. Louis. Stanton died five hours later.

Bold Ruler Offspring Hit Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer

Offspring of Bold Ruler are making shambles of the major Eastern 2-year-old stakes this year and there appears to be more of the same in store Saturday when the Wheatley Stable's Bold Lad goes after the $100,000 guaranteed Sapling at Monmouth Park.

Queen Empress, sired by Bold Ruler and also from Mrs. H.C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, was the short priced favorite to take last Saturday's $100,000 Sorority for 2-year-old fillies at Monmouth after winning all her six starts with four of the victories coming in stakes.

The Queen had to settle for third but the winner turned up in Bold Experience, another daughter of America's leading sire of 1963, Bold Ruler was one of the all-time greats of the Wheatley Stable then trained by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons. Bold Experience carried the silks of C.T. Chenery's Meadow Stable.

The victory, coming after she had twice bowed to Queen Empress, gave Bold Experience a record of four victories, including two stakes, and three seconds in seven starts. She paid $8.20 while earning $60,000.

Bold Experience, ridden by Bobby Ussery, stepped the six furlongs in 1:09 3-5.

Bold Lad goes into the Sapling, which winds up the Monmouth Park meeting, with three straight triumphs, two in stakes, and an over-all performance of four wins and two seconds in six outings.

In addition to the Sapling, 2-year-olds will be seen this week in the $20,000-added Flash today as Saratoga opens a 24-day meeting, the $25,000-added Majorette for fillies only at Arlington Park Wednesday and the $50,000-added Arch Ward at Arlington Park Friday.

Saturday's top events include the $100,000-added Classic for 3-year-olds at Arlington Park and Saratoga's $50,000-added Whitney, which is expected to match Mongo and Gun Bow, two of the outstanding candidates for the handicap division title.

Ashe Sets Sights On Wimbledon

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Arthur Ashe Jr., rapidly coming to the fore in United States tennis, has set his sights on winning the Wimbledon championship.

The 21-year-old Negro from Richmond, Va., a student at UCLA, won the Eastern Grass Court Championships Sunday by defeating Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-3. He is the first male of his race to win a major grass court tournament. Althea Gibson, the female Athlete of The Year in 1957 and 1958, was the first Negro to do so.

Ashe, who first hit the headlines in 1961 by winning the National Interscholastic Championship, was ranked 28th nationally that year. He was No. 10 in 1962 and moved up to sixth in 1963 as well as becoming the first Negro to be named to the U.S. Davis Cup squad.

"I'd like to win Wimbledon," Ashe said after he defeated Graebner. "I'm California state champ now. I'd rather be Pennsylvania state champion because the tourney has more prestige. It's the same thing with Wimbledon. If you're the Wimbledon champ they think you are the best."

Ashe competed at Wimbledon in 1963 and this year, but each time was eliminated before the quarter-finals. In winning here as fifth seed, he scored two up-sets. He put out Dennis Ralston in the quarter-finals and Gene Scott, the defending champion, in the semifinals.

In the women's play Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach Calif., top seed, swept the honors. She beat Nancy Richey, Dallas, for the first time in four tries, for the singles crown, 7-5, 3-6, 8-6.

Later she teamed with Mrs. Karen Hantze Sussman, San Antonio, to beat Miss Richey and Mrs. Clark Graebner for the doubles crown, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

'Mighty Mo' Stays Ready for Action

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The "Mighty Mo" is staying put, "ready for action in case of emergency," a Navy spokesman has made it known.

Many bigger cities than this Puget Sound port have tried to woo the mothballed battleship away. But "the Navy does not maintain this ship as a tourist attraction," declared the spokesman.

The latest suitor of the Missouri, aboard which the Japanese surrender ending World War II was signed, is San Francisco.

The Navy feels the battleship is better off here because she is kept in a near-neutral state which fends off aging. As such, very few men are needed to care for her.

Viet Nam Police Nab Bomb Suspects

SAIGON, Viet Nam, (AP) — Saigon police reported today they have captured four Viet Cong agents suspected in a bomb explosion Saturday night in which seven Americans and 13 Vietnamese were wounded.

All four agents and five other suspects were picked up in the vicinity of the blast, which shattered the Shadows bar here. The man who planted the charge, however, was reported still at large.

A Vietnamese soldier and a street vendor died of injuries. None of the seven Americans was seriously hurt. U. S. military authorities identified the latter today as including: Capt. Jack B. Green of Williamsburg, Kan.; and SFC Victor Chavez of Waynesville, Mo.

Backlog In Foreign Aid Being Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid officials said today a record low backlog of unused aid funds is being carried into overseas assistance operations for the coming year.

The revised figures are a matter of some pride with the Agency for International Development which has passed them on to the Senate in advance of final action on the foreign aid bill.

One argument of congressional critics has been that the aid program has been too fat with a big backlog of money from previous appropriations. AID chief David E. Bell, a former budget director, has pledged improved efficiency.

Last year, according to revised figures, the aid program had $650 million from past appropriations in addition to the $3 billion in new money voted by Congress. In some years more than $1 billion has been available beyond the amount supplied from fresh appropriations.

New estimates being submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee showed today that only $22 million remains uncommitted from previous appropriations and $213 million is expected to be recovered during the year from commitments to past projects which were not carried out.

Thus about $235 million would be available for foreign aid in the new fiscal year in addition to whatever Congress approves out of President Johnson's "barebones" request for $3.5 billion in new funds.

Both the $22 million in carry-over and the $213 million in recoveries set new lows, according to AID accounts.

Jersey City Police Into Negro Area

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Helmeted policemen patrolled the glass-littered streets of Jersey City's Negro district today where a rioting mob of young Negroes attacked officers, broke windows and looted stores.

Police said 13 Negroes were arrested during Sunday night's outbreak — the first incident of this scale in this northern New Jersey city that faces Manhattan across the Hudson River.

Mayor Thomas J. Whelan, at the scene just south of the Lafayette housing project, said, "It seems to me to be an overflow from the occurrences in New York City and Rochester."

Police said 23 persons, including 10 police officers, were injured during the more than four hours of disturbances. A white woman, her son and daughter, were beaten and their car smashed while driving down Grand Street.

Much of the rioting was random missile-throwing with as many as 500 bystanders watching, by police estimate. But between 11 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. at least 200 Negroes formed in a group and moved down Grand Street.

A car with seven Negroes inside drove toward a force of police on the street, almost running down several officers.

The car's occupants, six adults and one 17-year-old girl, were removed at gunpoint. The girl was held as a juvenile delinquent and the adults were charged with disorderly conduct, police said.

On orders to disperse the crowd, police formed a wedge and advanced, firing shots in the air.

The crowd broke into small pockets and faded into doorways and down side streets.

At 10:45 p.m. John Hudak Jr., 22, his mother, Dorothy, 47, and sister, also Dorothy, 13, were set upon in their car by a group of Negro youths.

Hudak was admitted in satisfactory condition at Jersey City Medical Center. His face was cut severely. The mother and daughter were sent home.

This city of 280,000, second largest in New Jersey, has about a 17 per cent Negro population.

Bodies Recovered

BUFFALO, N.Y., (AP) — An automobile containing the bodies of a coast guardsman and a woman was pulled from the Buffalo River Sunday.

Police theorized the car may have veered from a service road Saturday night, crashed through 10 yards of brush and through a retaining wall into the river.

They identified the victims as Botswain Mate Robert C. Williams, 25, of Florissant, Mo., and Mrs. Richard Skonieczny, 19, of Suburban Cheektowaga, N.Y.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am sickened by the increase in sex crimes in this country. The sentences handed down in the vast majority of cases are as bad as the crimes. The judge says "Ninety days" and the offender serves the term and is turned loose to do the same hideous thing again.

I firmly believe a person who commits a second sex crime should be surgically altered by the state and rendered sexless. The male ego, being what it is, most degenerates would think twice before doing something which might result in such an operation.

This may sound like an expensive procedure, but in the long run it would be far less costly than boarding and rooming the offenders, plus the expense of repeated court appearances and judgments.

Since you reach more readers than any one person in the country I hope you will publish this letter along with your comments. — SINCERE

Dear Sincere: I agree with you that there is a desperate need to revise our laws which deal with sex offenders. But I'm not in favor of giving the state the power to perform "surgical alterations" on anyone found guilty of a second sex offense.

First: the operation you suggest would not solve the problem. The only effective surgery would involve cutting off the offender's head, since that is where the problem originates.

But even potential decapitation would be no deterrent, since a sex maniac does not stop to think of what might happen to him if he is caught.

What is needed are laws which would remove the sex offender from society and get him into the hands of competent psychiatrists, since the problem is clearly one which involves a diseased mind.

Dear Ann Landers: We live in an apartment building. The family next door has two boys, 8 and 10 years of age. I'm sure they are the guilty ones but until we catch them red-handed we can do nothing.

Here is the problem: Someone has been changing our milk card. For the past several weeks we have been left quantities of milk, cottage cheese, eggnog, orange juice and whipped cream.

The milk company has been awfully good about coming and getting the stuff, but it's a nuisance. Can you tell us what should be done? — OVERSTOCKED

Dear Over: Until you nab the kids in the act you can do nothing. So keep an eye open. Until then, phone in your order and tell the milkman to ignore the card.

Dear Ann Landers: The office building where I work has a cafeteria for the employees. Yesterday the woman who was standing behind me in line was busily engaged in conversation with the man behind her. She didn't realize it, but her cigarette was too close to my arm and she accidentally burned a hole in my sweater.

We noticed it at the same moment. She gasped "How clumsy of me. I'm terribly sorry." Nothing was said about making it right.

I took the sweater to my dry cleaner that afternoon and it will cost $6.00 to have the sweater reweaved. Do you feel the woman should pay for it? Should I send her the bill in the mail or what? — BURNED

Dear Burned: Why hide behind a postage stamp? The woman should have offered to have your sweater repaired. Since she did not, I suggest you give her the opportunity to do the right thing — eyeball to eyeball.

Pat Barry Is Busiest TV Actress

Integrated Manikins For Some Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — Even before newly integrated schools open their doors this fall, Negro and white manikin youngsters will be lugging books together in department store windows displaying back-to-school wardrobes.

"Using children in these and Christmas windows later on is a natural and charming way to begin at integrating them," says Harold Guinn, sales manager for D. G. Williams.

His firm with its two manikin factories as well as L. A. Darling Co., Greenicker-Zaria, and Flairplastics Manikins are among the national organizations stepping up its pace to meet a mushrooming demand for Negro figures.

Recently one of the smart set's most elegant mink and couture emporiums, Bergdorf-Goodman in New York announced it has taken a Negro brother and sister into its manikin family.

They will make their debut Aug. 27 as nursery school tots in a six-window back-to-school display along chic Fifth Avenue.

Last January Bamberger's department store, Newark, N.J., pioneered with the unheralded appearance of several Negro figures in windows showing higher-priced ladies ready to wear.

The decision to use Negro manikins, said window manager Arthur Fischer, originated among display department personnel without pressure, influence or suggestion from racial groups or outside individuals.

Andrew Goodman, president of Bergdorf's, says response to his announced intention to integrate the store's windows has been generally favorable. There were three anonymous "crank notes," Goodman said.

Commissioned to originate the lady manikins used by Bamberger's last year, Mary Brownson's studios are now concentrating on styling Negro boys and girls up to age 8. By next year her artists expect to have window facsimiles of Negro youngsters through their teen years.

Miss Brownson says Boston is her best customer. Among 40 or 50 cities which have already ordered or have indicated a future interest in Negro manikins from major firms, the southernmost is St. Louis.

Klugman, and when they told me he was going to be in the series, it helped me decide. Of course, later I found they had told him I was going to be in the series, and that's what helped him decide."

The NBC series is something new in programming. The overall title is "90 Bristol Court," and it consists of three separate but interwoven comedies, with Karen, "Tom, Dick, and Mary," and "Harris Against the World." In an engaging bit of television whimsy, all the people involved live at the same Southern California bungalow court. So there will be an occasional overlapping of actors, as "Karen," "Tom, Dick, and Mary," and "Harris" takes on his neighbors as well as the world.

It's "Harris Against the World" that will occupy Emmy Award winner Klugman and Patricia Barry. And she has rationalized herself right into believing a television series will allow her to spend more time with her family.

Burford To Texas For Examination Of Knee

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Chris Burford, split end of the Kansas City Chiefs, who has been bothered with an ailing left knee, will leave Sunday for Dallas, Tex., to undergo an examination by Dr. Truett James.

Dr. James performed a knee operation on Burford in 1962. There is a possibility Burford may need another operation, in which case he would be lost to the American League football team for about two months.

Burford missed several games in 1962 after injuring his knee and it has been bothering him on and off since then. He has twisted it in workouts, and it swelled up Saturday.

The Chiefs worked out twice Saturday and will take Sunday off.

Dick Zanuck Proves His Value On Job

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I suppose a lot of people looked at me with fish eyes when I got this job," says Richard Zanuck, vice president in charge of production at 20th Century-Fox Studios.

He adds: "That was only natural. But I hope they feel differently about me now."

The initial reaction to the Zanuck appointment almost a year ago was indeed natural. After all, wasn't Dick the son of the boss — boss Darryl F. Zanuck, founder of the film company and the man who returned as president to save it from the brink of bankruptcy?

But a year of action has proved that Dick Zanuck is not his daddy's errand boy. With Darryl Francis in New York and Richard Darryl at the Westwood studio, the Zanucks have managed one of the nearest surrections in film history.

The record: $9 million profit for Fox in 1963 vs. an almost $40 million deficit the year before. Employment at 3,000 vs. 200 at the studio's low ebb. Eleven films finished since the studio reopened April 22, 1963, after a year's idleness.

The outlook: 45 stars and $62 million committed to 22 movies in the coming year.

Television production shows an amazing revival: 4½ hours of network films for next season vs. zero hours a year ago.

Young Zanuck, who is also president of the television operation, gave this explanation: "Television had always been the stepchild in the studio operation. When we faced a complete shutdown, we realized how nice it would be to have a television setup that would absorb some of the overhead when we weren't shooting features."

"So we went after television in a big way. We spent money for top talent and made deals that were attractive to stars. We were able to get names like Fess Parker and Tony Franciosa for series by offering them features as well."

Prisoner Slugs County Sheriff; Three Then Flee

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Three young prisoners escaped from the Lafayette County jail Sunday night after one of them slugged Sheriff Dewey Parrott and took his revolver.

The three apparently fled in a car that was reported stolen within two blocks of the courthouse shortly after the break.

The fugitives are Danny Dohage, 19, Carrollton, Mo.; Richard Boone Lynch, 20, and Noah Edmond Duncan, 19, both of Colorado.

All were being held on car theft charges.

Dohage overpowered the sheriff after being let out of his cell to make a phone call, the sheriff's office said. Dohage then
